Moslem League Joins In Interim Government

NEW DELHI, (Reuters)—The Moslem league announced Tuesday it has decided definitely to enter the interim Indian government.

Names of the league's five nominees have been sent to the viceroy, Field Marshal Viscount Wavell.

Representation on the interim government had been a chief point in dispute between Moslems and Hindus and had accentuated bitter feeling between the two groups, often flaring into violent communal demonstrations.

On the interim government the Hindus have six of 14 seats. The Moslems are allotted five and the other three are reserved for minority groups.

Siam Will Return 4 Areas to France

BANGKOK, Siam. (AP)—A five-year border dispute between France and Siam appeared settled Monday with the announcement that the Siamese cabinet had agreed to return four disputed frontier areas to French Indo-China.

Premier Thamrong Nawasuwat announced the cabinet's action, and said it was backed by both major political parties. A special emergency meeting of parliament was called Monday to ratify the action.

The disputed territory, obtained by Siam in 1941 under a Japanese-negotiated treaty with Vichy France, has been the scene of fierce fighting between Siamese and French colonial troops.

Yugoslavia Quits Conference As Final Paris Session Held

PARIS, (AP) — Yugoslavia withdrew officially from the peace conference Tuesday as the delegates of 21 countries conducted their final session.

The conference officially ended at 5:28 p.m.

The Yugoslav delegation, which had contended strongly from the outset without success for the Italian port of Trieste, addressed a letter to the conference chairman, Geo Vinski of China, announcing Yugoslavia would not participate in the final approval of the conference decisions and would not associate herself with the recommendations.

The action followed denunciation Monday by Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia of some of the conference decisions as "unsatisfactory," suggesting that questions such as Trieste, free navigation of the Danube and the Bulgarian-Greek border would be reopened when the foreign ministers' council meets in New York Nov. 4, to draft the final terms for Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. Molotov accused the U.S. of trying to dominate the conference.

Molotov in his suggestion that the final work in the past be done in Europe, was supported by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain.

Deputy Premier Kardelj of Yugoslavia, who wrote the withdrawal letter, said his country was withdrawing in protest against what he termed "unjust decisions" imposed upon Yugoslavia by asserted ruthlessness in "outvoting."

Delegates, meanwhile, made preparations to depart for home or for further international debate at the United Nations general assembly in New York, beginning Oct. 23.

Foreign ministers of the Big Four arranged to meet in New York on Nov. 4 to take final action on the five peace pacts written here and to begin work on a treaty for Germany.

The conference had no authority except to make treaty recommendations to the Big Four, which in turn will submit the treaties to the United Nations general assembly for final ratification.

3 Greek Villages Reported Burned

KOZANE, Greece, (AP)—Divisional headquarters here said Tuesday that three northern Greek villages were attacked and set afire burned by bands "directed by Communist agents infiltrating into Greece daily from Albania and Yugoslavia."

A Greek post on the Yugoslav frontier reported a band estimated at 500, headquarters added, and army units sped out of Kozane on information that night. The Leftist attack was scheduled for midnight. South of here leftist bands, staging their second field day in the Klasson-Kozane highway, knocked out six bridges revealed today.

Three trucks were captured and taken into fastnesses around the foot of Mount Olympus. One was burned and two turned back after the drivers and passengers had been robbed of money, clothes and baggage.

Col. Eroe Mandas, Kozane headquarters commandant, said the small Greek army was "finding great difficulty in checking the influx of Communist agents, arms and propaganda sifting through the rugged frontier country from Yugoslavia and Albania."

Labor Conference Starts in Ottawa

OTTAWA, (CP)— The dominion-provincial labor conference got under way Tuesday behind closed doors.

All provinces were represented and the discussion opened with a statement on labor policy by Labor Minister Mitchell, who was followed by Arthur MacNamara, federal deputy minister of labor.

Primary purpose is to discuss the future of labor relations and collective bargaining legislation now covered by a wartime federal code introduced by order-in-council. It is expected the provinces also will seek information on the government's intentions in relaxing wage control legislation.

Mitchell is present included: Hon. C. E. Gerhart, Alberta.

Three Gunmen Rob Mining Executive

TORONTO, (CP)—Three gunmen escaped with loot valued at $13,000 Monday after jumped their way into the suburban Forest Hill home of David Lieberman while the Toronto mining executive sat in his recreation room showing movies to friends.

A $2,500 mink jacket, part of the loot taken from an upstairs room, was found in a shrub a few doors away when police followed the area. The rest of the stolen articles included a $10,000 diamond ring and $500 in cash.

Names Bohozuk As Torso' Killer

HAMILTON, (CP)—In a vivid description given police on April 12 during retracing of the alleged murder route of March 6 when John Dick was killed, Mrs. Evelyn MacLean Dick declared William Bohozuk killed her husband with two shots in the back of the head and later added another shot "in the stomach or chest."

The 26-year-old Hamilton woman told her cabler, Donald MacLaren gave Bohozuk $300 or $400 to "do the job."

This was the fifth statement from Mrs. Dick read in evidence at her Hamilton supreme court trial before Mr. Justice Barlow for the murder of her streetcar-driving husband, a killing for which her father and Bohozuk will stand trial later.

Tuesday's statement in court was no less fantastic in its detail than the previous statements admitted to evidence, the first two of which she repudiated in statement No. 4 which declared statement No. 3 was the truthful version.

But in statement No. 8, she told Lieut. Bohozuk killed her husband with two shots from a gun lent him by Donald MacLean, during a motor ride in which she did part of the driving.

The body, she said, was returned to her garage.

She saw it later, minus legs and arms—"the head was almost off"—and a few days later Bohozuk took the body and dumped it on Hamilton mountain where it was found March 16.

Chrysler, C. I. L. Strikes Near End

WINDSOR, Ont., (CP)— Four hundred workers at the Canadian Industries, Ltd., plant voted Sunday to end their 108-day-old strike for higher wages. They will return to work Friday.

Settlement terms, approved by 90 percent of the striking members of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), included wage increases of 10 to 14 cents an hour, based on elimination of a job evaluation plan, and two weeks' vacation with pay. Union members at the salt-producing plant struck June 27.

Settlement of the 117-day-old strike at the Chrysler corporation's plant in Windsor and Chatham, Ont., also appeared near following acceptance by union stewards of recommendations presented by the negotiating committee of local 195 United Automobile Workers.

George Burt, Canadian director of the union, said the recommendations were approved unanimously and all members of the local have been summoned to a special meeting Wednesday to vote on the recommendations.

More than 4,000 workers are involved in the Chrysler strike.

Newsprint Price Up $10 Per Ton

TORONTO, (CP) — Effective Monday, the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Ltd. increased the price of newsprint to its customers by $10 a ton, D. W. Ambridge, president of the company, said.

Earlier, the International Paper Sales Company Inc. (Canada) announced a similar increase.

This action, which is expected to be followed by all Canadian News-print producers, results from a recent decision of the Office of Price Administration in the U.S., raising the price ceiling on newsprint to $84 from $74 a ton.

French Approve Constitution By Majority of 1,211,000

PARIS, (AP)— The ministry of the interior announced Monday that the French electorate had approved the proposed constitution for France's fourth republic by more than 1,211,000 votes.

The ministry's official returns for 89 departments of continental France gave 9,062,467 votes for adoption and 7,790,676 against in the referendum on the draft constitution Sunday. These continental figures involve a total poll of 16,793,143, were complete except for Corsica and North Africa.

Approval for the constitution—backed by the three main parties in the coalition government, the Communists, Socialists and Mouvement Republican Populaire—came despite the opposition of Gen. de Gaulle. The French wartime leader charged that the document drafted by the constituent assembly would create a France too weak to maintain its independence in a struggle between the east and the west—between Russia and the United States as he portrayed it.

Gen. de Gaulle further contended that the document did not give enough authority to the executive head of the republic and also did not provide enough separation among the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government.

The ministry's announcement said 53.8 percent of the voters approved the draft constitution, compared to 46 percent. It also revealed the number of persons who stayed away from the polls. In 80 departments having a total of 22,544,226 registered voters, only 15,331,959 voted.

11 Nazis May Hang After Midnight

NUERNBERG (AP) — Unofficial reports circulated here Tuesday that the hangings of the 11 condemned Nazi ringleaders would begin in the Nuernberg prison yard at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday (4:01 p.m. Edmonton time Tuesday).

It is expected the executions will take about three hours.

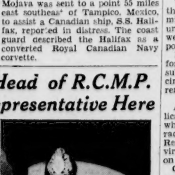
The four-power commission has made main items of its official announcement concerning the executions until after the last man has been hanged, but if there are no completed within three hours this probably will mean that only one scaffold and more than one hangman will be employed.

With their sentence of life swiftly running out, 10 of the condemned men, their last appeals having been denied, turned to religion for solace.

Only Alfred Rosenberg refused to see a chaplain or study the Bible. All the others talked at length about their faith in God.

Goering told prison doctors he had no fear of death and said he intended to try to show dignity until the very last moment.

Former Alberta Head of R.C.M.P. Named Airline Representative Here



Appointment of W. F. W. Hancock, former assistant commissioner of the R.C.M.P. in Alberta who retired some months ago, as Edmonton representative for Northwest Airlines was announced Tuesday by Don J. King, of Minneapolis, general manager of the Orient region. Mr. Hancock has commenced his duties.

The appointment is regarded as a major one in view of Edmonton's key position on the company's projected United States-to-Orient air route. Edmonton is to be a servicing stop on this route.

The company hopes to have the new service operating early in the spring year, the line running from Minneapolis to Anchorage, Alaska.

Mr. Hancock, a veteran of the R.C.M.P., joined the force April, after 35 years in police work in Alberta. He is a native of London, and was a noted athlete in his youth.

He joined the old R.N.W.M.P. in Calgary in 1911. After being overseas for two years, during the First Great War, he returned to the province and in 1918 joined the Alberta provincial police. As an inspector he traveled over much of the north country. When the A.P.P. was absorbed by the R.C.M.P. in 1932, he returned to his old force, and was given the rank of superintendent in 1936. He became assistant commissioner the next year, holding that post until his retirement. For many years he has made his home in Edmonton.

Indonesia Signs Truce with Dutch

BATAVIA, Java, (AP) — The Netherlands government and the republic of Indonesia Monday signed a truce agreement calling for an end to 14 months of bloody warfare in Java and nearby islands.

It was hoped the truce would establish peaceful conditions for continuing political negotiations for Indonesian demands for independence.

A third party to the truce was Britain's special commissioner in southeast Asia, Lord Killearn, generally credited here with bringing the warring sides together.

Red Forces Split In Chinese Battle

PEIPING, (AP) — Government military authorities announced Monday the linking of their forces pushing northward from Peiping with the victors of Kalgan, capturing three key cities en route and driving the stubborn Communist defenders into the hills to the south.

This victory after three weeks of hard fighting separated the Communists in Jehol from those in north China proper.

Except for four brigades of Communists reported surrounded between Hwalai and Hsinhwayuan, it cleared the 116-mile rail route from Peiping to Kalgan.

Hwalai, where the drive from Peiping had been held up, finally has taken after bitter street fighting. The government authorities said.

Most of the hard-pressed Communists retreated toward Yunsien, 80 miles south of Kalgan, while others remaining along the railroad split into guerilla bands and took to the hills, government sources said.

Ships in Distress Off Alaska, Mexico

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, (AP)—The tug Monarch, with an LST in tow, radioed for assistance from south of the Shumagin Islands and the U.S.S. Mulberry, rushing to their aid, suffered a disabled engine, the coast guard reported.

The cutter Ewing and the freighter Lucidor immediately turned to go to the aid of the Monarch and the coast and geodetic ship Surveyor put out to assist the Mulberry.

NEW YORK, (AP)—United States Coast Guard headquarters here announced the coast guard cutter Mojava was sent to a point 55 miles east southeast of Tampico, Mexico, to assist a Canadian ship, S.S. Halifax, reported in distress. The coast guard described the Halifax as a converted Royal Canadian Navy corvette.

Think Move Will Speed Ending of Wage Limits

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Immediate release of all meat and livestock in the United States from price control was announced Monday night by President Truman.

The announcement was expected to restore steaks and roasts to butcher counters within two to three weeks although prices probably will be higher than current ceilings.

The president—to the tune of Democrats' applause and criticism, Republican taunts and industry's jubilation —also signalled an early end to virtually the whole series of wartime restrictions, except those over rents. Mr. Truman said the removal of ceilings on items other than meat will be speeded up and this will hasten the end of wage controls.

The president coupled his action with a vigorous denunciation of a "few men in the congress" who, he said, "in the service of selfish interests have been determined for some time to wreck price controls no matter what the cost might be to our people." He named no names.

At another stage of his broadcast to a meat-starving country, only three weeks before the congressional elections, Mr. Truman noted that "many members of the congress and many candidates have pledged themselves to vote for the removal of price controls as soon as the new congress meets."

"As a result," he continued, "many businessmen have held on to the products they would normally sell, gambling on the possibility of the release of price control and the opportunity for greater profits. This has been conspicuously true in the case of meat."

"The American people," he said, "will not endure the conduct of those who, in order further to fatten their profits, are endangering the health of our people by holding back vital foods which are now ready for market and for which the slaughter pipelines are clamoring.

"The real blame, however, lies at the door of the reckless group of selfish men who, in the hope of gaining political advantage, have encouraged sellers to gamble on the destruction of our price control."

In connection with meat decontrol, the president recalled that "for many months representatives

Feel Truman Back-Pedalling Cost Party Political Ground

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON—The small gray man with the big job has inherited the office of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Franklin Roosevelt. Monday night put ashes on his head and donned sackcloth publicly before his 140,000,000 people.

It was a sad, almost nauseating, sight.

Probably, at this stage of events, there was nothing else Harry Truman could do, having allowed himself to be boxed off into a tight political corner.

Blow to Prestige

But for anybody else had been present on the two occasions within the last month when he had assented, and then declining show that there was no need to remove price controls from meat, the president's speech in which announcing the end of these controls was painful listening.

Perhaps it was most painful because of what it did to the dignity of the office which he now occupies. It will remain an issue at the polls next month.

It might have done better to have forgotten the political aspects of the subject and merely announced that circumstances made it necessary to remove the price controls.

Republicans to Reply

As it is, he has given the Republican party a chance to answer him, which it is taking over a national radio network Tuesday—and the Republicans can at least make a virtue of their consistency of policy on price controls.

One of the great issues in the coming elections will certainly be the alleged indecisive and "too-little-too-late" attitude of the democrats.

Mr. Truman does not seem to have done anything to correct that impression of his administration.

Irrigation Expert, A. Griffin, 63, Dies

CALGARY, (CP)— Eastern Alberta fruit tree father Augustus Griffin, 63, manager of the department of natural resources, C.P.R., died at his home here.

Born in Visalia, Calif., Mr. Griffin came to Canada as superintendent of operation and maintenance of the C.P.R.'s eastern section irrigation project at Brooks in 1918. An irrigation and horticulturist expert, Mr. Griffin had a vision of transforming the flat barren prairie district into a fruit garden of Alberta.

Through his efforts, the C.P.R. official did probably more than any other one man to promote fruit growth and irrigation in the province.

Livestock Prices Soar in Chicago

CHICAGO, (AP)—Hogs topped $27.50 per cwt. liveweight on the stockyards Tuesday and steers $28-75 with the removal of ceiling prices. This made hogs $8.75 to $11.00 higher than Monday and beef $8.50 higher than the price control quotations. But supplies were very light, only 800 hogs and 2,000 butcher cattle, as unofficial time for overnight loading followed the announcement of President Truman of the removal of all price controls on meat and livestock.

Sheep were in larger supply, 2,500 offered at asked prices $4 higher or $26 for best lambs.

Child of 6 Dead; Suspect Boy, 11

KINGSTON, (CP) — Provincial police late Monday night had brought an 11-year-old boy from Shanty Lake to Kingston in connection with the death of six-year-old Gordon Duchard, whose battered body was found Friday night beneath a railway bridge on the outskirts of the village of Shanty Lake. 50 miles north of here.

No charge has been laid and the Ontario Child Society is taking care of the boy.

Police said they were told by Gordon Duchard's mother that she had learned from other youngsters in the area that a boy fought with the son, hit him on the head with a rock and threw the body into the river. Police said the boy first denied and then admitted the incident.

Dr. Clarke opened his first practice in Lashburn, Sask., upon his return to Canada, and remained there for several months before coming to Didsbury in 1916. He had practiced in Didsbury for all this year when he came to Calgary to live.

GEN. STILWELL

Hero of Far East, Gen. Stilwell Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—General Joseph W. Stilwell, 62, commander of the Sixth Army, who recoiled from "a beating" in Burma to help knock Japan out of the war, died Saturday.

The wiry general had an operation Oct. 6 for a liver ailment believed contracted in the Burma jungles. He died at Letterman general hospital on the grounds of his Sixth army headquarters here.

Gen. Stilwell rarely wore decorations, but the nation gave him on his death bed the one he had said he most coveted. It was the combat infantryman's badge, which is awarded only for extended fighting at the front against the enemy.

Charge Northerner With Gravel Theft

FORT ST. JOHN.—Charged with stealing nine cubic yards of gravel from along the Alaska highway, Eric Tucker, merchant and restaurant owner, appeared in court here Saturday but the case was adjourned for a week until an exhibit of gravel could be analyzed in Victoria.

Charge against Tucker, whose Tucker Inn is located at Mile 147 on the highway, was laid by Maj. W. D. Akerley, of the Canadian Army.

Until the Canadian Army took control of the highway in April, American maintenance crews kept all approaches to the highway gravelled. Tucker apparently sought the same help from the Canadian Army but was unable to get it.

While most persons in the district consider the alleged offence a petty one, many truckers and others who use the highway declare it to be an important test case.

Tucker is acting in his own defence. Analysis of the exhibit is expected to show where he got the gravel to surface the road into his premises.

Trouble Delays Air Speed Try

PARIS, (AP) — The Pacusan Dreamboat returned to Orly field Tuesday when mechanical trouble developed a few hours after it took off in an effort to break the transatlantic speed record between Paris and New York.

The army's Hawaii-to-Cairo B-29 taxied back on the field two hours and 45 minutes after taking off. Ground crews were on the spot to check the difficulty.

The Army Transport Command base at Orly airfield said the crew might make another try for a record over the 3,600-mile route Wednesday.

Former Librarian Is Critically Ill

Rushed to Edmonton suffering from a brain tumor, D. E. Cameron, 67, retired University of Alberta librarian, was in critical condition in the University hospital Tuesday.

Mr. Cameron was brought here from Victoria, where he has been living for the past six months and was taken from the C.N.R. train to hospital where he was operated on by one of Canada's leading neurologists, Dr. Arthur Vining Davis Hebburn. Accompanying Mr. Cameron on the train was Dr. Arthur Beauchamp, his son-in-law.

City Plant Gets Service Contract

W. Leigh Brintnell, president of Northwest Industries, Ltd., said Tuesday the company had been selected as western Canada service contractor for aircraft and that an agreement with the American corporation would be signed shortly.

Mr. Brintnell said the agreement with Douglas Aircraft Corp., of Santa Monica, Calif., will mean the plant here will carry spare parts and blueprint drawings for planes operating in Alberta, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and the northwest.

Northwest Industries was operated as Aircraft Repair limited during the war and in the last year has been used as a manufacturing plant for Reliance aircraft.

Russia has a new track-laying tractor of the "Stalineta" type.

WINNIPEG, (CP)—British people feel they owe a great deal to Canada for the contribution made during the war years and for the present efforts in easing the food shortage in Great Britain, Sir Andrew Jones, chief of the British food mission in Canada, told the Canadian club here Monday.

Sir Andrew will visit agriculturists and other producers during his stop here.

Unity of Churches Urged by Cardinal

OTTAWA, (CP)—Cardinal James McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto, said Monday in a press conference that the Christian churches of the world must "get close together" if social and international problems were to be solved.

Stressing that there was a need for unity among all churches, Cardinal McGuigan said:

"I don't look for a sudden coming together of the Christian churches in matters of creed and belief but I do think that in social and international problems the churches must get closer together before western civilization is definitely routed.

"I think there is a trend towards unity in that respect but I don't think we will get unity of belief suddenly."

Signs of Soviet Co-operation In German Occupation Seen

By Charles Nichols

LONDON—First signs of restrained optimism over possible settlement of the big power deadlock in Germany—the surest major point in post-war Europe—appeared Tuesday with the decision of the Big Four foreign ministers to thresh out the matter next month.

Although the projected foreign ministers' talk in New York Nov. 20 will be preliminary to a full dress conference on Germany and Austria, probably in London later, the very fact that Russia and France at last agreed to tackle the problem in co-operation with Britain and America is coupled with other recent developments to bring new hopefulness.

Even in advance of the talks, it is reported the four power control commission of Germany, which until now has been stalled on major questions by difference of approach by Russia on one side and western powers on the other, is beginning to work smoothly.

May Drop Isolation

This new indication of co-operation has given rise to confident predictions that Russia is about to abandon her policy of isolation for her occupation zone in the eastern provinces, will lift the iron curtain there, and agree to fit its economy with that of the western zones.

Such predictions are given support, though not certainty, by the recent Russian agreement to allow four power teams to enter the Russian zone and institute disarmament and industrial production there.

However, whether the new signs of Russian desire to co-operate are followed by action or not, it is certain the western powers are completely fed up with the present system of occupation under which they are forced to feed the populations of their own zones by importing food-stuffs without the help of supplies from the agricultural lands of the Russian zone.

Hope for Self-Support

What Britain and America want most urgently is to put Germany back on an economic basis where it can pay its own keep. This can only be achieved successfully, in the British view, by treating the nation as an economic unit, allowing an expansion of industrial production sufficient to pay for its imports by exports and, possibly, by reduction of reparations delivered from current production.

Until now Russia has balked at all these changes; but now there are indications she has come around to a more helpful attitude. It may be that Russia now feels her occupation zone has been drained to the limit of industrial plants, has been Sovietized to the highest practical extent, and can safely be allowed contact with the neighboring zones.

If that is even partially so, the prospects of an end to the air-tight division of Germany into occupation compartments may be in sight. If not, it is certain the western powers will radically revise their own policy in Germany and go their own ways irrespective of Russian reaction.

Report on Berlin

The whole position in Germany will be carefully studied by Foreign Minister Bevin when he returns to London this week. Before he takes it up with the cabinet, he will have before him a document popularly called the "Berlin Brief" which is an outline by British officials in the German capital of major problems facing them, and proposed solutions.

Attached to this brief is believed to be a well documented summary of Russian conduct of affairs in their zone.

Russians Announce New T. B. Vaccine

MOSCOW, (AP)— Soviet scientists reported notable success Tuesday in fighting tuberculosis with a new vaccine injected into newborn children. Professors A. Kleimann and F. I. Levitin said results achieved by the new vaccine, were of national importance. They did not disclose the vaccine's makeup.

They reported tests in city maternity hospitals had been so successful they planned to extend its use to Russia's thousands of villages.

U. S. Ends Control On Meat Prices

of the livestock and meat industry have insistently demanded the lifting of controls."

He said they "have made the definite promise" that removal of controls will bring meat to market "at reasonable prices."

"The American people, he added, "will know where the responsibility rests if profiteering on meat raises prices so high that the average American cannot buy it."

The president said Agriculture Secretary Anderson and Price Administrator Paul Porter will remove "all price controls on livestock and food and feed products (derived) therefrom."

MORE

This automatically will remove the subsidies now being paid to the industry.

The president emphasized "the close relationship between wages and prices" and said that "price control and wage control are largely dependent upon each other."

But he argued that the "risk in the action we are taking in removing meat controls is less than it would otherwise be because production in general is now increasing at a significant rate" and national income is "at an all-time high."

These labor leaders who have proposed the decontrol of meat have insisted that wage controls must be abolished at the same time. Among them is William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

No great quantity of meat is expected to begin appearing in butcher shops for perhaps 10 days—the time usually required to get livestock from the farms to meat counters.

Mr. Truman's dramatic decision, climaxing a mounting furore over meatless menus, drew immediate Republican cries of "deathbed repentance," "confession of failure," and "too late."

Reaction Favorable

In the administration camp the reaction was generally favorable, but Rep. Hugh de Lacy (Dem., Wash.) indicated disapproval by calling for a "national buyers' strike" to hold down prices of meat and other items.

The American Meat Insitute hailed the decision, but cautioned that it "will not mean much more meat for consumers in the immediate future."

Meat stocks, the Institute said, are at a low level and the distribution "pipelines are completely empty."

No Effect Is Foreseen On Canadian Rationing

OTTAWA, (CP) — Government officials Tuesday expressed interest in President Truman's Washington announcement that price controls on meat in the United States are being abandoned, but said the move was not expected to have any effect on Canadian rationing or prices.

Prices board sources explained that Canada and the United States "have separate economies" in the meat field and that the situation in the two countries is "vastly different."

Meat prices in the United States had hit an all-time high when controls were removed previously, and when ceilings were reintroduced, producers had withheld deliveries in hopes of getting higher prices later. President Truman's move to remove controls again was an "inevitable step" in getting meat back on the market. However, the American situation was entirely different. For one thing, United States farmers had to pay more for mill feeds than Canadian farmers pay.

These sources indicated there was no immediate prospect of Canada abandoning her system of rationing or her two meatless days a week, observed in restaurants only on Tuesdays and Fridays.

While price control officers admitted the prospective price differential would tend to increase the possibility of black market trafficking across the border, the price differential had existed throughout the war, "and we have had no serious complaints in that time."

Accidents in East Cause 16 Deaths

TORONTO, (CP)—Out of 16 accidental deaths in eastern Canada during the week-end, 15 occured in Ontario. Highway traffic accidents accounted for 13 deaths; there was one drowning, one railway accident and one death in a paper mill plant.

All highway traffic deaths were in Ontario and the only accidental death outside that province was that of Lionel Roy, killed at Bathurst, N.B.

Worst highway accidents were at Plantagenet, 35 miles east of Ottawa, where five members of an Ottawa family died early Sunday in the blazing wreckage of their car after it had been struck by a heavy transport truck, and at Centerville, three miles south of Kitchener, where four persons died in an automobile-radial crash.

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Four persons met accidental death in Vancouver and district, over the Thanksgiving week-end.

Lonnie Dell Markell, 4½ years old, died of suffocation in his crib while his parents were away. Martie Lehtomen, 44, died when the car he was driving was in collision with a street car here.

Margaret Oviteland, 16, of nearby Aldergrove, was killed instantly when struck by an automobile on the Trans-Canada highway near her home. Driver of the car, Clifford Leslie Sturrey of Langley Prairie, B.C., was charged with manslaughter.

A 51-year-old fisherman, Robert Arnold, fell from the stern of his houseboat home at Sturgeon slough, Pitt river, and drowned before aid could reach him.

ALTONA, Man., (CP)—Two persons were killed and two others injured in a car and truck collision two miles south of here Sunday. Herman and David Knikkel, brothers from Rosenfeld, Man., were killed.

Walter Susskind, 33-year-old Czech orchestra conductor who gave a performance at Belsen camp, has been touring Australia.

Find Pessimism At Peace Talks

By Ross Munro

PARIS, (CP) — Delegates from 17 middle and small nations who were invited by the Big Four to the peace conference here, have had their say in the open forum and now are preparing to leave Paris, wondering whether the conference was a complete farce or one which had at least some success in establishing a basis for peace in Europe.

After 11 weeks of heavy work, opinion among the delegates for the "small 17," including Canada, ranges from condemning the conference as a fraud to that of Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa who last week surprisingly termed the conference a success. But now it seems that Field Marshal Smuts was speaking with his tongue in his cheek. It is understood that privately he does not hold such a sanguine belief.

As Health Minister Claxton, head of the Canadian delegation, has said, the only test of the conference's success will be the extent to which the council of foreign ministers heeds the recommendations of the full 21-power conference.

If the council finds that it can not accept a good many of these important recommendations and incorporate them into the final treaties with Italy and the four former German satellites, then the conference was an utter failure and might as well never have been held in the view of most of the delegates from the western countries among the 17 invited.

There is a great deal of pessimism among these delegates that the foreign ministers council will not be able to agree on many recommendations.

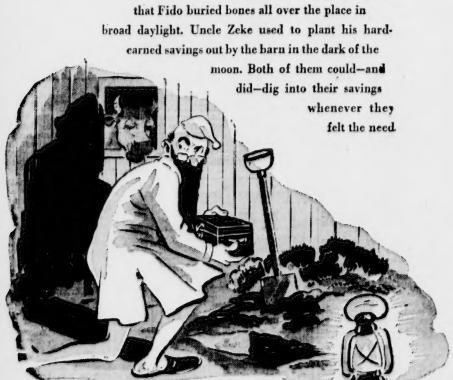
Uncle Zeke and Fido had the same idea

About the only difference was that Fido buried bones all over the place in broad daylight. Uncle Zeke used to plant his hard-earned savings out by the barn in the dark of the moon. Both of them could—and did—dig into their savings whenever they felt the need.



Your modern "buried treasure" may be in a much safer place. Ordinary methods of saving are fine, as far as they go, but they are subject to what too often happens to the best of human intentions.

THE number of little businesses engaged in any one Canadian industry reveals surprising facts . . . discloses how vast is the national contribution of small progressive enterprises.

Consider, for example, milk, cheese, butter and other dairy products . . . produced by some 22,000 Canadians in more than 2,500 plants . . . an average of only 8 or 9 men and women in each plant.

Some of these plants have plans to produce a new skim milk product marking a fresh advance in the science of nutrition. Only a small item, perhaps, among so many small plants . . . but it's full of significance because it typifies the spirit of initiative and enterprise by which these small businesses are animated.

For more than 90 years this Bank has had knowledge of the financial problems which play a part in the progressive development of small as well as large enterprises in every type of industry and commerce. Today, our credit plans are designed as a ready, willing service to constructive businesses . . . to further such plans as you, too, may have in mind. Parley Discusses Trade Proposals

LONDON, (CP)—The main proposals to bring world trade into a new age of freedom and expansion are being considered by the 18-power preparatory commission meeting on trade and employment, which opened here Tuesday.

The proposals are for international agreements on matters relating to:

1. Achievement and maintenance of high and stable levels of employment and economic activity.

2. Regulations on restrictions and discriminations in world trade.

3. Restrictive business practices.

4. Inter-governmental commodity arrangements.

The United States had been the leader in suggesting the conference with the frank hope of easing some trade arrangements such as Imperial preference. The British countries, while approving the idea of freer world trade and the lowering of tariff barriers, are going to the Commonwealth-Empire countries and the rest of the world."

will yield nothing unless it is shown to be beneficial to all.

The Commonwealth representatives, including Hector McKinnon of Ottawa, chairman of the tariff board, were in consultation in London prior to the commission sessions. It is understood they heard a reiteration of the British government attitude in the words of Prime Minister Attlee—"We for our part are ready to agree that the existing system of preferences within the British Commonwealth and Empire will be contracted provided there is adequate compensation in the form of improvement in trading conditions between the Commonwealth-Empire countries and the rest of the world."

Reminder of Canadian Railway History Rests in Vancouver

Holding itself as dignified as possible under the circumstances, Canadian Pacific locomotive 374, the famous old wood-burner which drew the first transcontinental passenger train into Vancouver from Montreal in 1887, is pictured here as it was trundled through the streets of Vancouver to a site in Kitsilano Park. The 44-ton engine, minus its pilot and old-fashioned smoke stack was uncoupled from its wood-filled tender at the C.P.R.'s Drake st. yard for the truck haul, but will be "re-united" at Kitsilano where it will rest as a reminder of Canadian transcontinental railway history.

Planning to Halt Soviet Expansion

By Robert Eunson

PARIS, (AP)— Soviet expansion to the west was halted last week along a line running north from Trieste when the Paris peace conference adopted by a two-thirds majority a proposed Italian treaty clearly defining the Yugoslav-Italian frontier.

The draft treaty also would create an international zone around Trieste, and the Adriatic port itself would become a free city serving both Yugoslavia and Italy, as well as landlocked countries to the north and east.

Fifteen of the 21 powers represented at the conference voted in favor of the new Yugoslav border, although Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government had warned that it would not sign the treaty in its present form.

Russian-backed Yugoslavia had demanded the whole of Istria from Italy. But the United States and Great Britain firmly refused to agree to strip Italy of all of that territory.

As a consequence, the conference adopted a French compromise which would give Yugoslavia Fiume and the Pola sectors of Istria.

The possibility of war was raised when Yugoslavia stated flatly that she would refuse to remove her troops, estimated at 14 divisions, from Istria.

The western bloc, calling Yugoslavia's hand, pushed through an American amendment stipulating that only countries which sign the Italian treaty will benefit from its provisions.

Thus, if Yugoslavia refuses to sign, she would be shorn of any legal claim to territory west of her 1939 borders, and would have to forfeit her one-third share of the $225,000,000 Italy must pay Yugoslavia, Greece and Ethiopia in reparations.

The internationalization of Trieste was fundamentally a compromise, resulting after the foreign ministers were unable to agree whether Istria should be Yugoslav or Italian.

DROUGHT HITS AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia, (Reuters)— Wheat crops in central New South Wales may fail and greatly reduced yields may result in the southern half of the state unless substantial rainfall occurs very soon, it was reported Tuesday. Wheat crops in the northern half of New South Wales have already failed because of the drought.

Pittsburgh Cold But Trams Run

NEW YORK, (AP) — Although Pittsburgh's 22-day power strike remained in effect Tuesday, the streetcars and buses were running again.

A.F.L. streetcar operators and bus drivers, after remaining off the job for 18 days in respect for picket lines set up by the striking independent power union, voted overwhelmingly in favor of a back to work movement and buses and trolleys began running.

However, the deadlocked power tangle continued to hold Pittsburgh. Most downtown streets were unlighted, many emergency power units were set up on the streets, and many downtown workers wore sweaters or coats to keep warm. The striking union, the independent association of employes of the Duquesne Light Co., has asked a 20 percent wage increase. The company has offered five percent.

This was the situation in other disputes across the United States:

Maritime: Chairman Frank J. Taylor of the east and gulf coast operators negotiating committee invited representatives of the A.F.L. Masters, Mates and Pilots to meet with the committee in New York to consider a proposal which he said "should be acceptable" to end the 14-day-old strike. The proposal thereafter would be taken up with the C.I.O. Marine Engineers Beneficial association. The deck officers seek a 30 percent wage increase, the Maritime engineers a 35 percent increase.

Films: Technicians of the A.F.L. International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes decided to respect picket lines set up in a jurisdictional dispute at nine major movie studios by a rival, the A.F.L. Conference of Studio unions; 200 pickets were arrested at Columbia studio because, police said, they disregarded a court order restraining them from mass picketing.

Hotels: The threat of no heat or hot water for the patrons of 18 strike-bound Washington hotels diminished when union engineers said they would maintain crews to protect life and property.

Britain Slashes Steel for Autos

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.—A thick pall of gloom hung over the British automobile industry Tuesday following announcement by the government there are to be drastic reductions in steel supplies next year.

The net result of tightening of steel restrictions, partially brought about by steel strikes in Canada and the United States earlier this year and partially by a domestic coal shortage, will be that the meagre flow of new cars reaching the home market for automobile-hungry Britons will be reduced to a trickle.

Morris Motors, one of the nation's biggest "popular" car manufacturers, already has announced reduction of about 42 percent in projected 1947 output. Other manufacturers are planning corresponding decreases.

Although not listed as an official cause of the steel shortage, it is generally conceded the government's uncertain policy toward nationalization of the iron and steel industry was a contributory factor. The steel industry's plans for postwar expansion have been held up for nearly a year waiting for the government to decide what course nationalization is to take.

It would seem reduction in the number of cars reaching home markets is going to further boost prices of used cars, which stand at the highest level in history. It is not possible to buy a used car of pre-war vintage at anything less than two to three times its original value.

New car prices on the average are three times what they were in 1938, without including purchase taxes, which places nearly every car out of the range of the average buyer. Still, there are waiting lists of thousands willing to pay almost anything for an automobile.

The new steel curtailment decision, it is considered, will virtually place the possibility of obtaining a car, either new or used, out of range of about 90 percent of the population for the next five years at least.

Fear 'Bad Unrest' In Germany Soon

FRANKFURT, (AP) — High American intelligence sources said Tuesday that overcrowding, hunger and economic uncertainty might cause "bad unrest" in Germany in the winter.

But, they said, the United States army doesn't expect much Nazi subversive activity. Anti-American resistance, they added, is "at its dullest," though a "careful watch" is being kept on German veterans' organizations, termed "the biggest potential threat to our occupation."

Prepared for Trouble

"We have plans to meet any possible trouble in the American zone," these quarters, speaking unofficially, "It's problematic whether there will be any, but all the potentialities are there."

They listed these major factors:

1. Population increases: United States zone population is expected to jump to 17,450,000 by the end of the year—against 16,000,000 three months ago and 14,000,000 in 1933.

2. Overcrowding: Available housing is taxed 43 percent over 1939 standards. There is not enough for all new arrivals, even though "most Germans live like sardines."

Fear Food Shortage

3. Food: The German crop was better than expected, but the minimum caloiry ration for Germans depends on grain shipments from the United States—"we're going to feel the effects of the shipping strike right in the middle of the winter, when we can least afford it."

4. Major crimes are dropping but "potentialities exist for a crime wave."

"Add up these factors," said the intelligence authorities, "and you have all the makings of trouble. If there is unrest, it can grow into disorder, and if there is disorder among the Germans, it can spread to displaced persons and have an effect even among our own soldiers."

Strike Paralyzes Australian City

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP)—Australia's largest city, its population totalling more than 1,000,000, struggled Monday through a 24-hour token strike by street-car and bus operators which spread normal life and gave many an unscheduled holiday.

Thousands of men and women employed in downtown offices and shops walked to work from suburbs sprawled miles around Sydney. Others thumbed lifts from motorists or crowded aboard trucks bound for business sections. People too far from work to walk stayed home. The transport strike, which didn't affect busy suburban railway system ferries that connect downtown Sydney with residential districts strung around the large harbor, was decided Sunday at a mass meeting of tram and bus men.

The tram and bus employes seek a five-day, 40-hour week, a superannuation plan, new uniforms and replacement of the 30-year-old "footboard" trams from the sides of which conductors have to hang precariously while collecting fares.

The strike started Sunday midnight and ended midnight Monday. Others are expected to be held if the demands are not met.

A similar stoppage was staged in Melbourne last week. These transport holdups in Australia's two largest cities, which between them hold almost a third of the country's population, are regarded as evidence of growing unrest among workers whose pay is held down by wage-pegging regulations introduced as a war measure and maintained as a shield against inflation.

The regulations are due to expire in December but their renewal by special legislation is expected when the newly-elected parliament meets next month.

Jewelers Announce Own Training Plan

WINNIPEG, (CP) — A $250,000 plan to train skilled jewelers was announced during the week-end by T. Ellis of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Jewelers' institute.

He said present working tradesmen would be recognized by issuance of membership certificates and proficiency standards would be set up by the institute.

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNOR?

CANBERRA, (CP)—Authoritative sources predicted Monday that Prime Minister Chifley would recommend the appointment of an Australian as governor-general to succeed the Duke of Gloucester, scheduled to return home in January. Members of the Australian high court were said to be among those under consideration.

Find Man's Body; Throat Was Cut

NORTH BAY, Ont., (CP)—The body of a man identified as Hector McEachern, of unknown address, was found Tuesday in an east-bound Canadian National Railways train shortly after it left North Bay. The man's throat had been slashed with a razor blade and he lay in a train washroom.

The man had carried a ticket which showed he had started from Vancouver, and a letter found in his pocket from a sister in Prince Edward Island indicated he was en route to visit her.

Drought has cut Greece's 1946 citrus crop.

The Basic Railway Problem

Nobody wants freight rates to go up. Everyone would like to see them come down. In the prairie provinces, in British Columbia, and in the Maritimes there are long-standing claims that they should be equalized downward in justice to these areas.

But the railway managements say wage bills and other operating and maintenance costs have gone up and that they need the 30 per cent freight rate increase they are asking for. This is a financial statement, not an abstract argument. It brings out the concrete fact that railways cannot operate unless they can take in money enough to meet expenses.

That is the basic fact which has to be dealt with. It cannot be ignored, nor sidestepped. The country cannot get along without the railways, and the railways cannot get along without enough revenue to make ends meet.

Off-hand declarations that the railways do not need the rate-boost do nothing to solve the problem; the managements say they do need it.

Protesting that the increase would be bad for many lines of business is equally ineffective. No doubt that is true. But the question remains: Where are the railways going to get the extra money they say they require?

It is aside altogether from the point to say the railways have been hauling enormous traffic and collecting large revenues during the war years. A mill cannot grind with the water that has passed, and railways cannot pay next year's bills out of last year's income. It is the future relationship between peacetime revenue and expenditure that has to be considered. There is no way to dodge that issue.

It may be supposed, and is to be hoped, that the Commissioners will tackle the basic problem; and not concern themselves solely with this specific detail. There is need—and long has been a need—that they go into the whole freight rate structure "from the ground up," for that is the main factor in producing railway revenue.

The national interest can best be served by aiming at a permanent settlement of the freight rate question; rather than merely arranging a temporary make-shift on one item in the count. Tinkering with the question has been tried long enough. Decades of patching up regional disputes and granting concessions for the sake of peace have produced a situation satisfactory to neither the public nor the railways.

It is time to try for a thorough-going reconstruction which will produce an equitable rate structure, fair to all sections of the country and all branches of business; and which will produce enough revenue to keep the wheels turning and provide the high standard of service to which Canadians have become used and for which our railways are noted.

Jews and Palestine

The Palestine question has been thrown so turbulently into international politics that the economic aspects of the case have been almost completely smothered.

Impatient groups of Jews, indulging in stupid acts of violence that are deprecated by their intelligent compatriots everywhere, have only succeeded in beclouding the really vital issues.

Vote-seeking politicians in other countries, advocating steps that would never work, have distorted the entire picture.

But under these side issues and red herrings lies a series of accomplished facts that cannot be ignored.

The important thing is not that the Jewish population of Palestine has been increased but this growing population of Jews is actually doing something intelligent and profitable with Palestine.

In 1922, the population of Palestine showed 76 per cent Moslem, 13 per cent Jewish and 11 per cent Christian. In 1944, the proportions were 60 per cent Moslem 32 per cent Jewish and 8 per cent Christian.

But during those 22 years, the imports of Palestine increased 533 per cent and the exports 966 per cent—a development to which the increase in the Jewish population was a vital factor.

Whatever may be the political and moral significance of the situation, the fact stands out that the Jews are making Palestine produce twenty years there have done more to make Palestine a country than the Arabs did in all the centuries they have lived there.

In a world dependent upon increased production, this is something that may not be lightly forgotten.

Diverted Materials

If the general manager of housing enterprises is correct, a good many houses are standing unfinished, and living conditions will be unnecessarily congested through the winter, because building materials have been diverted widely to non-essential use.

Canada, this official says, has "gone berserk on building of the wrong kind," and is spending millions of dollars in putting up theatres, stores and dance halls by the use of supplies and skilled workmen instead of using the man-power and materials in building homes.

In every centre across the country there is more or less evidence that this diversion has been going on, though with what actual adverse reaction on house-building lay observers are not in position to judge. Not all sorts of materials used in building large structures are needed or can be used in building houses. And construction of large buildings has also been going on only by fits and starts.

It is too sweeping an assumption that this diversion is responsible, or mainly responsible, for the unsatisfactory progress made in carrying through housing programs. Obviously the greater factor has been the actual scarcity of materials, and this has hampered construction of all kinds.

It will be recalled that last spring the federal authorities asked the municipal councils to say how much commercial building could be done in their respective communities without crippling the necessary expansion of living accommodation. The councils pretty generally refused to accept this responsibility, and a good many of them hotly resented being asked to do so.

That was a mistake, because the municipal officials knew better than Ottawa could possibly know how serious were their housing problems and to what extent the local diversion of materials to commercial buildings would be safe. Had the councils taken on the duty of "channeling" available supplies it is reasonable to assume that fewer houses would now be standing half-built and fewer families would have to spend the winter in cramped quarters.

The Conference a Success?

Naturally enough, readers of the news from Paris have been impressed, and depressed, by the endless disputes among the delegates at the peace conference. The delegates themselves, it is said, have fallen into the same mood of frustration.

For this reason observers should note with relief, as the conferees are reported to have reacted, to the speech there of Premier Jan Smuts of South Africa. He is the only man at this present gathering who was also a delegate to the Paris conference which followed World War 1, and is thus able to view the proceedings in perspective.

When General Smuts said the conference has not been a failure he spoke with peculiar authority. His declaration that "answers have been found here to what appeared to be insoluble questions" is most heartening, the more heartening because it can be supposed to have been made in the light of what was not done at Versailles.

The business of the conference has been to draft treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. These treaties will be cast into final form by the Big Four. The present sessions were thus preparatory, intended to clear the ground, to show where there is agreement, and where there are basic differences of viewpoint.

The world has heard more about the disagreements than about the terms agreed upon. It was timely that attention be called to what the conference has accomplished, as an offset to the assumption that it has accomplished little or nothing. This assurance could come from no better authority than the veteran who heads the government of South Africa.

Cynics to the contrary, the meeting at Paris has not been a failure. That is the ringing declaration of Field Marshal Smuts, than whom no man is less likely to say pleasant things when facts do not warrant.

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT

American Foreign Policy

By Dorothy Thompson

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Whatever the merits or demerits of Henry Wallace's criticisms, it was high time that American foreign policy should come under debate. To participate in criticism it was necessary for Mr. Wallace to leave the cabinet. His position would have been better had he done so freely.

But it is now clear Mr. Wallace has become the spokesman for the Left. I am sure, his initial speech was not very well received by the audience. The hero of the occasion was the more unbridled Senator Pepper. When the Moscow press praised the Wallace speech, however, the cue was eagerly followed.

The quarrel which has developed, does, however, serve to point up the present issue. It is: shall the United States, with Great Britain, continue to center everything on stopping Russian expansion, or shall it make its chief pillar "co-operation" with Russia?

Thus framed, the United States risks being divided into a pro-British and a pro-Russian camp. Nothing could be more dangerous, internally or externally.

I think it time to read again, Washington's farewell address, recalling the circumstances under which it was made.

This address is usually cited as the tocsin of American isolationism. It was not. It was a call for American independence in foreign affairs, even from recent allies.

Taking advantage of the fact that Britain was involved in war with France, the colonies had struck for independence, assisted, for reason of self-interest, by France — incidentally, the France of the Bourbons. Co-operation against a common enemy created the Franco-American alliance. Although Americans won their war the French did not, and an uneasy peace left the French masses in famine, bankruptcy, and despair. France plunged into bloody revolution. Her madnesses and excesses disgusted even Jefferson, and she soon set herself on the course which was to lead in a few years to a straight war of conquest under Napoleon.

Revolutionary France was bent on exploiting the American alliance and using left wing groups in that country for that purpose. Her embassy and consulates became organizing centers for "Jacobin" clubs, exaggerating domestic discontents and anti-British feeling, culminating in the notorious Genet affair. The country became divided between pro-British and pro-French parties, "Tories" and "Radicals," and it was in this situation that Washington uttered his farewell advice to eschew factions and permanent entangling alliances — the only American alliance, at that moment, being with revolutionary France.

American foreign policy is exactly what Washington warned against, in a not dissimilar situation. It is not based on an affirmative American concept of a free world in which the United States can live,for this historic moment, as prima inter pares, but on a grand alliance of the Big Three who must maintain "unity" or go to war.

It is the basic concept that needs criticism, because for it is unrealistic in historical perspective, immoral in American conscience, and is demobilizing our very characters.

The Big Three neither own the world nor represent a majority of its inhabitants. Their combined populations are hardly more than that of Europe. Their "one world" is a figment of imagination. Even Mr. Wallace cannot describe the lineaments of that world. Certainly it would be well if the differences in culture and political concepts could be harmonized between the U.S.S.R. and the West, but neither Mr. Wallace nor anybody else can do more than voice a pious wish. Unfortunately, as Mrs. Roosevelt admits, one can seldom argue with those who believe they have the key to "inevitable" historic developments —though history exists to demonstrate its whimsicality more than any master plan.

The United States is in a state of hypnosis about the U.S.S.R., in which "stopping" them, or "co-operating" with them is all we can think of. I think it would be well to ignore them. The role of American-Russian relations is back, but to "raise a banner to which the wise and the just can repair"; to encourage before the world the voice of reason, humanity, and liberty; to co-operate in no arrangements that they would not, under similar circumstances, accept for themselves; to remember that corruption never has been compulsory; and to take the field fearlessly, anticipating no attack from the U.S.S.R., or any other nation, as long, as confident and pure in their faith, they attract by it the despairing peoples of this earth.

The concept that "peace" can only be achieved by "unity" between great powers is the concept of Munich. It leads inexorably to a situation where, while mouthing pious ideals, no one lifts a finger for his neighbor, leat the "peace of the powers" be endangered. In the maw of this "peace" states and peoples are ground to bits until the earth moans and groans, and out of the hell thus created spring anarchy and mad violences of despair, giving way to monstrous brass-eyed despotisms of inorganic order imposed on and by violence, exploited by the most ruthless, and finally erupting into war, regarded less as a catastrophe than a relief.

Today in Europe

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK—One of the grimmest facts in Europe today is that the Russian army of occupation is ten times as numerous as those of the United States, Britain and France. This harsh reality is seldom referred to in public. But it is never absent from the minds of the military and political leaders of the Western democracies.

When it is remembered that Russia could reinforce her European army far more readily than could either Britain or the United States, and thereby achieve an even greater preponderance, it is easy to understand the anxieties for the future freedom of Europe which weigh upon the minds of all informed people.

Outwardly, there would seem nothing to prevent the Russian army from rolling forward, in a matter of weeks, to the Atlantic Ocean and achieving a complete occupation of Europe. Must we then conclude that the freedom and safety of Western Europe has no other safeguard than the benevolence of Soviet Russia?

Not at all. There is another safeguard more potent and reliable than the benevolence of the great dictator. It is the fact that the United States possesses a monopoly of the atom bomb.

If Henry A. Wallace could have his way and the production of atom bombs in the United States were to be discontinued, and the more extreme friends, who would like America forthwith to destroy her stockpile of bombs as a gesture of good faith, could have their way, few people could sleep safely in their beds.

What is this mad project of stripping the United States of her great power before some international agreement has been reached which could effectively prevent the use of this terrible weapon by others? The United States has demobilized her armed forces at a prodigious rate and her monopoly of the atom bomb still enables her to be the effective guardian and trustee of Western civilization.

Some people argue that it is wrong for one nation to have such power. But certainly there is no nation in whose hands the world would rather leave the bomb.

During the whole 19th century, the liberties of Europe were defended and advanced by the overwhelming power of the British Navy. Britain in those days was the trustee of freedom and civilization. And on the whole, most fair-minded people would conclude that she discharged her trusteeship well.

The United States today is in the position that Britain occupied in the 19th Century. And there is every reason to suppose that she will use her great power no more selfishly than did Britain.

Against this background, all thinking Europeans have heaved a sigh of relief at the departure and discomfiture of Henry A. Wallace, and are glad that the safekeeping of this frightful instrument of destruction is still in the experienced and sagacious hands of Bernard M. Baruch, chief United States member of the United Nations atomic energy commission.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

AGE OF INCONSIDERATION

Editor, Bulletin — This seems to be the age of inconsideration but it is apparent that a state of behaviorism exists. The end result more than likely will affect us all.

Can we blame this irresponsibility upon the war, and if so, which war? Or must we blame it upon the educational system, the church system, the social system or what?

By trial and error a protective system has built up that, when it operates efficiently, does produce results, and even those who feel we should have advanced sufficiently to have thrown it into the discard years ago, must admit we are not yet ready, and others are more than thankful for such a system and desire to see it further augmented and working better.

I refer to our police system. The fact that its members must be respected and have the confidence of the public is not quite enough. For I think it is necessary that co-operation be freely given by all who are still sane enough to appreciate those values whose full manifestation embraces the welfare and feelings of others.

This was brought home to me on Saturday evening at about 9.20 p.m., whilst passing with my wife through the subway on 109 street, when two cars followed by a truck passed through this subway with horns going full blast, the speed of the cars and truck being at least 40 miles per hour.

The fact that the city is not in the position to pick up every bit of dirt did contribute in part to a minor sand storm in addition to the state of pandemonium already created by the blithering idiots in the car.

I hate to think what the clothes of my wife and self would have been like if it had rained just previously, and also the effect on the nerves of those who might have been there; in age greater than myself.

I trust that the chief of police will find ways of catching up with the culprits, and that he will be able to have a man down there once in a while.

The Road Ahead

By Harper Prowse, MLA

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Most of our veterans—about one million of them—have now been returned to civilian life. There have, of course, been headaches and heartaches during the past year when these men were being transformed back into civilians. But the transition has been accomplished with far less difficulty than even the most optimistic observer dared to prophecy.

At the present time, in Alberta at any event, less than one per cent of the veterans have been unable to find employment. Only a negligible number of these are at present receiving out-of-work benefits—and this small group is made up of those who are waiting for training courses to begin, for businesses or other ventures to receive official approval, and men who because of age and other reasons are unsuitable for the labor market.

Only on one point is the employment picture for veterans still unsatisfactory, and this is due to conditions which it is difficult, if not impossible, to correct or control. Generally speaking many veterans have had a start at the bottom of the ladder in the low-paid brackets. Except where they were protected by re-installment regulations, the veterans have found that the best jobs are held by civilians who gained their promotions during the war years. To offset this, many employers are now offering preferences both in employment and advancement to veterans. This is, of course, the reason for the veterans preferences and the enforcement of "temporary employee" regulations in government and municipal positions.

It has been found by experience, too, that the forecast that veterans would be unstable and would engage time to "settle down" were greatly exaggerated. In fact many veterans have proved to be more stable and to have "settled down" in new jobs more easily and quickly than civilians. There have been, of course, individual exceptions to this, but the over-all record of the veterans has been surprisingly good.

Veterans who have decided to continue their education or take specialized technical training have been piling up enviable reputations for themselves. Universities across the country unanimously report that the veteran-students work harder and get better marks than non-veteran students. Fears that it might be necessary to relax professional standards to permit veterans to qualify have been unfounded. Accomodation also, however, have made it impossible for many veterans to take the training, or acquire the higher education, which they had hoped to get.

Although all groups are suffering from the housing crisis the veterans feel that the greatest hardships are being worked. They are the ones who had to start looking for homes which did not exist and consequently a greater percentage of them are forced to accept inadequate living conditions than any other group. While the granting of priorities to permit the completion of homes for veterans is helping many individuals it has done little to help to solve this general problem.

THE LAW AND SALARIES

Maclean's Magazine

Decision of Mr. Justice Thorson in the Pure Spring Company case has finally brought to a head the whole question of whether or not the income taxpayer is to be left completely at the mercy of a civil servant whose rulings literally are beyond the reach of the law.

Pure Spring, an Ottawa bottling company, wanted to pay its president $7,000. The Income Tax Commissioner said, No, $5,000 is enough, and disallowed the difference as a legitimate business expense.

This, says Justice Thorson, the Commission had every right to do under the existing law. In effect, the tax collector can use the taxing power arbitrarily to dictate salary levels. Furthermore, the victim has no right of appeal. The courts are powerless to interfere, This, says Justice Thorson, is the law.

It is also a complete denial of the free citizen's right to protection against arbitrary power exercised by a public official. It is an intolerable law. It should be changed at the earliest opportunity.

BENNY'S FATHER DIES

Europe Held by Rising Fear Of Soviet - Western Conflict

By Ross Munro

PARIS, (CP)—From Paris to Berlin, millions of people in Europe, looking cynically at the hard-won peace, are seriously concerned over the possibility of war between the Russian group and the western nations.

The disputes at the peace conference here, the creation of a semi-military frontier down the length of eastern Europe from the Baltic to the Adriatic, the never-lessening tension, and the terrifying degeneration in relations between east and west in Europe provide an arresting picture to Europeans, living in a traditional battlefield.

Fears that haunt Europe are compounded of a spate of loose and frequently completely irresponsible talk of war which has increased during the last three or four months on the continent.

Open War Talk

In three typical cities of western Europe, Paris, Berlin and Brussels, I've heard over the last few months unfeigned, inflammable war talk that makes one's skin creep. It is as depressing a development as Europe has seen since the end of the last conflict.

The really serious aspect is that you now meet scores of people, some in responsible positions, who seem to accept the inevitability of war with the Soviet.

In Berlin, a senior officer spoke openly of the probability of a fight. Another expressed sincere concern to me as to how he would get his wife and daughter out of the city in time before the "ballon went up."

Belgians Alarmed

Belgian friends in Brussels, one of the most prosperous and settled capitals in Europe, talk with bewildering alarm of the outlook in Europe. When Hon. Brooke Claxton, head of the Canadian delegation to the peace conference, was here in September he was given a reception. Within 15 minutes, three Belgians asked him whether he thought there would be another war before long.

The Paris conference itself has hardly been a peace promoting. Suspicion, distrust, stubbornness and fear have dominated its proceedings from their beginning. In private, war talk is mixed with peace talk among many delegates.

Leading delegate from a western country said this to me the other day: "We have seen exposed in the Nuernberg trials the way in which aggressive war is started. There seems to be a remarkable parallel today in Europe to this situation in the late 1930s. It is a terrible prospect for humanity."

Some Optimistic

Leaders on both sides are deeply disturbed over the continuing rot in international affairs. I was talking with a Yugoslav cabinet minister one night when he suddenly threw up his hands in despair and said: "everyone wants peace, but everyone is working against it."

Europe, however, is not without its optimists. They argue that the continent's marathon crisis will eventually resolve in stable settlements.

Sees Parity Prices Chief Vote Issue

WARREN, Man., (CP) — Parity prices for farm products constitute the chief issue at stake in the Oct. 21 Portage la Prairie federal by-election, John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said in a campaign address here Monday.

He condemned the British wheat agreement and termed it "the most improvident business transaction ever entered into by a Canadian government."

Mr. Bracken made little comment on the dominion-provincial conference. He said "the dominion government blames some of the provinces (for the breakdown) and some provinces blame the dominion, and you can blame anyone you like."

Scientists Say Modern Navy Can Survive Atomic Bomb

By Howard W. Blakeslee

NEW YORK, (CP)—Both Bikini bombs, in the air and under water, showed that man has not yet built a warship that cannot be sunk by either kind, and that he is not yet sure of an atomic bomb that certainly can sink one more than a mile away.

Next spring's bomb, about 3,000 feet beneath the surface of the Pacific, may increase the known distance at which warships can be sunk. But even in that case, there may be a knotty engineering problem of how to sink a bomb to that depth before a small naval captain can run his fast ship out of range.

Will Be Bigger Some Day

Unless the deep bomb greatly exceeds present expectations, navies will be able to continue to operate in an atomic war with alterations to design and tactics. This applies to present size bombs. Some day they will be bigger.

The first protection is distance. The atomic bomb's destructive power falls off very rapidly with distance. There is no mysterious force of nature that amplifies this destructive power.

Dispersion is the first antidote against atomic bombs. Dispersion is far easier at sea than on land. In fact, the normal dispersion of warships in the Second Great War, whether in harbors or at sea, would protect most fighting ships from being sunk or put out of action by any one bomb.

Must Meet Three Tests

Future warships will be designed to meet three atomic bomb conditions. One is blast that can twist inch-thick steel of present strength at half-a-mile, but will not crumple present armor plate at that distance.

Another is flash heat that melted some of the top structures of ships within a thousand feet at Bikini Lagoon. This melting damage was not serious, but the flash effects on topside personnel would have been crippling with present naval design. The third design problem is to meet radioactive rays, something new in warfare.

This probably will involve both design and tactics.

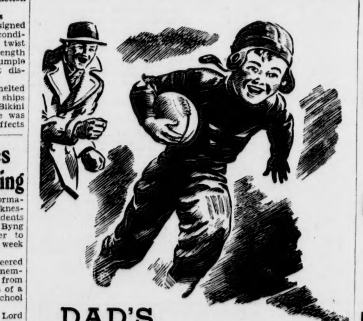
One obvious approach is a structure with somewhat the cigar shape and design of a submarine. Modern submarines essentially are one hull inside another, built to resist pressure. That shape and structure also is well adapted to resist to some extent the enormous pressures put on ships by atomic bomb explosions.

Hoods For Protection

Even if this basic design principle is not adopted, it is likely to be approached in appearance by hoods over the tops of warships to protect personnel. Hoods need not cover the big guns which apparently were unscathed at Bikini. Even small guns down to 20 mm. were not visibly damaged.

What this protection will be made of is problematical. The way that tank tire treads withstood both heat and blast without even slight signs of damage on the Bikini target ships, suggests that for some purposes something besides steel may be used for hooding.

None of the construction problems appears insoluble. But no construction now predictable is expected to save a warship that gets either a direct hit or a near miss from an atomic bomb.



To Probe Charges Of Boys Drinking

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Information concerning alleged drunkenness among high school students in the Kitsilano and Lord Byng school areas was turned over to city squad officials during the week end.

The information was volunteered by Bert Emery, parks board member, who said he received it from three teen-aged representatives of a group of 15 Kitsilano high school students.

The students charged that Lord Byng students were drinking lemon extract and had introduced the habit to Kitsilano students. Most of the drinking, the statement said, occurred during week end parties in private homes while parents were absent.

Last week the Vancouver Sun published a story saying east-end bootleggers were doing big business selling "cheap bathtub booze" to high school students. Later the police commission ordered Police Chief MacNeill to "track down" the reports.

A secret Allied weapon just revealed was an electric torpedo which traveled through water without leaving a wake.

Voters Familiar with Issues Favor Byrnes Over Wallace

By American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J.—Voters who say they have followed the arguments over the Byrnes versus Wallace ideas for dealing with Russia, vote 5-to-1 in favor of sticking to the Byrnes policy.

Fewer than half the nation's voters, the poll indicates, have been paying attention to the discussion over the two men's ideas. That is shown in replies to the following:

"Have you followed the arguments about Byrnes' ideas and Wallace's ideas for dealing with Russia?

Yes	42%
No	58

The general question is one which experts on foreign affairs will argue for some time. So far as the general public is concerned, the tendency among those who have a definite opinion on the subject is to side more with Mr. Byrnes than with Mr. Wallace on the basis of what they think the two men's ideas are.

"Whose policy do you think we should follow — Byrnes' or Wallace's?"

The vote of all who have followed the discussion and had definite conceptions of the ideas of both men:

Byrnes	78%
Wallace's	16
No opinion	6

The following two questions were asked of those who said they had followed the discussions:

Wants to co-operate with Russia	7

Holdup Attempt Charged to Boys

OTTAWA, (CP)—Three Montreal boys, two aged 15 and one 14, were arrested Monday and charged with attempted armed hold-up and carrying concealed weapons after three loaded 32 calibre revolvers allegedly were found in their possession.

Police said the boys entered the store of Alfred A. Shaffer of Ottawa, pointed revolvers at him, but beat a hurried retreat when Mr. Shaffer grappeled with one of the boys.

The youths claimed they had run away from their homes and intended to hitch-hike to Calgary.

DAD'S BACKING YOU, SON

● Tom Hansen, superintendent of an industrial plant, had big plans for his ten-year-old son Jim. But Tom didn't live to see them carried out. An accident one day —and a few hours later Tom was dead.

Less than two years before the accident, Tom, at the suggestion of an Imperial Life representative, had arranged an Educational policy whereby $500 each year would be paid when his son reached college age to cover the period of his university course. Now Jim's education has been guaranteed just as surely as though the father had lived to see him graduate. No more premiums are required on the policy, and the money will be paid at the time Tom had planned.

An Imperial Life Educational policy was the finest remembrance that Tom could have left his son. You too can give your boy or girl a head start in the keenly-competitive race that will face your children when they enter the business world of tomorrow. Take that first step now.

Harold Brandreth New President

ALL-TIME HIGH LIKELY FOR AHA REGISTRATIONS

The number of registered players in the province for the coming season appears to be headed for an all-time record, judging by the report made by Registrar-treasurer J. T. North of Calgary at the annual meeting of the Alberta Hockey Association held in Edmonton Saturday.

Figures submitted showed more that 1,400 cards already had been distributed, which number considerably exceeds the total of 1,250 registrations last year. During the 1945-46 season, two senior, 27 intermediate, 23 juvenile, 14 junior and 14 midget teams operated in Alberta and prospects point to a substantial increase, particularly in juvenile and midget divisions.

HAROLD BRANDRETH of Calgary was elected president for 1946-47 and William Ruff of Edmonton is again vice-president. Ruff was elected for a two-year term for the North Division, Jack Moss of Grande Prairie being named for one term. Art Potter of Edmonton is continuing member.

Harold Brandreth and D. P. McDonald will hold office for two and one years respectively for the Central Division, with Vince Stanley of High River and Joe McDougal of Canmore South Division members. Bob McKenzie of Lacombe for Central and Ed Bruchet of Lethbridge for South are continuing members.

A TOTAL OF $1,852.03 was spent on midget and juvenile hockey by the association during the past year. Delegates attending the meeting included John Kabusek, Bellevue; Roy Spilter, Coleman; Joe McDougall, Blairmore; Ed Bruchet, Lethbridge; Vince Stanley, High River; Harold Brandreth and D. P. McDonald, Calgary; Bob McKenzie, Lacombe, Roy Carr, Cadomin; Jack Moss, Grande Prairie and William Ruff, Ken Henry, Art Potter, Dr. W. G. Hardy, Earl Samis, Art Jackson and Herb Shires, all of Edmonton.

Calgary Gridders Take Junior Crown

CALGARY, Oct. 15 (CP) — Calgary's powerful West End Tornadoes won the Alberta junior football championship for the second successive season when they outclassed Edmonton Maple Leafs in every department to score a 17-1 victory in a sudden death final here Monday.

A crowd of 2,700 fans braved the windy and snowy weather to see one of the strongest clubs to ever perform in junior Calgary ranks walk to a comparatively easy win over a squad which showed practically no running attack with the exception of a few flashes in the third quarter.

TORNADOES' STAR studded backfield was too much for the capital City lads and Calgary backs broke loose for long gains with amazing regularity. Pete Lougheed, Bill Fayter, Jim Kester, Al Vendig and Ken McKenna turned in fine performances and contributed much to the 345 yards gained. The End made rushing. Dave Tomlinson was plunging with his usual power but injured his wrist in the third quarter and was forced to leave the game.

Fayter, who turned in his best game of the season, scored one and over his left eye when tackled after making a 26-yard gain in the second quarter, three stitches being required to close it.

Early in the first quarter, Jack Ross intercepted a Calgary pass to put Edmonton in possession on the Tornado 42. Edmonton punted to Tornadoes, Kerr bringing down Lougheed behind the West End goal line for a touch.

Cop 1st Two In Hardy Cup Grid Playoff

SASKATOON, Oct. 15— (CP) — Showing superiority in every department, University of Alberta Golden Bears defeated University of Saskatchewan Huskies 18-0 at Griffiths Stadium here before a reunion day crowd of 3,500 fans.

The victory was the second for the Albertans in the western Canada intercollegiate football series for the Hardy cup. The Bears won the first game here Saturday 8-0.

The visitors dominated the play in every quarter. A 25-yard forward from Bill Ingram to Graham Grassi produced their first touchdown late in the first quarter and Peg Barry rouged McFayden behind the Saskatchewan line for another point before the session ended.

THE SECOND quarter was scoreless with most of the play in Saskatchewan territory. Two forward passes, one from Rooney to Mickey Hajash and another from Rooney to Grant DeFraine, gave the Bears their second touchdown which Hajash converted. Recovering an onside kick some 10 yards from the Saskatchewan line late in the final quarter, Harry Hobbs plunged across for their third touchdown, also converted by Hajash.

Alberta moved the yardsticks seven times to Huskies' five and completed six passes out of 12 attempts. The losers completed two passes and had four intercepted out of 10 attempts.

IN THE SATURDAY game all of the scoring came in the first half on a safety touch by Saskatchewan and Harry Hobbs' touchdown which was converted by Mickey Hajash.

Failure of an Alberta player to report before entering the game midway through the third quarter cost the Albertans a field goal, as after Mickey Hajash had kicked the points from the 30-yard mark, the referee called back the play and penalized the team 10 yards. Hajash's next attempt failed.

Alberta Captures Mixed Doubles

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 (CP) — The University of Saskatchewan carried off aggregate honors in the annual western Canada inter-collegiate tennis tournament held here over the week-end and gained possession of the Burt Smith-Jones memorial trophy for one year.

Led by Don Hodges, provincial titlist, they made a clean sweep of the men's and ladies' singles and doubles and failed to capture only one event, the mixed doubles which was won by an Alberta twosome, Gord McClaws and Jean Martin. The Manitoba foursome failed to win a single event.

Saskatchewan net artists here are Hodges, John Leicester, Ruth Fleming and Doris Wood. Representing Alberta are McClaws, John Scott, Jean Martyn, and Helen Lilley.

The golf championships, staged for the first time, were cut short because of cold and damp weather, and only Friday's totals were used in a 171 total, five strokes lower than that of Manitoba's Bob Gardiner and Bob Dunbar. Manitoba evened matters by winning the feminine division as Donna Baxter and Barbara Wildman led by a wide margin.

Cards Force Series Into Seventh Game

St. Louis, Oct. 15 (AP) — For the second time, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, brilliant left-hander, stood Boston Red Sox on their heads here Sunday and the world series stretched to the limit of seven games as the Cards clipped three Sox flingers for a 4-1 victory.

Brecheen, who shut out Boston with a four-hitter in the second game of the play-off, came back with an almost equally lustrous seven-hitter Sunday and had completed a string of 13 scoreless innings against the American League champs before a triple by Rudy York led to the Sox's score in the seventh frame Sunday.

THE RED BIRDS, fighting to keep the series alive after dropping two out of three in Boston, showed up the sixth game with a five hit, three-run outburst that drove Mickey Harris from the hill in the third inning. Brecheen, his screwball again puzzling the Sox sluggers, needed no more encouragement than that.

The deciding game will be fought out Monday. Another jammed crowd such as the 35,768 who watched the home town boys rally Sunday was expected to witness the final fray. It was the second straight year that the series had gone the limit, Detroit Tigers needed all seven to subdue Chicago Cubs a year ago.

BRECHEEN, in delivering his second classic performance, recovered from a shaky start in the first two innings and went on to win impressively. He struck out six and was never in danger after the Red Sox made four of their seven hits in the opening frames. Thereafter he spaced out three safeties, including a single by Ted Williams in the ninth inning.

Superlative work by the Card infield spared the little portsider possible embarrassment on several occasions. Three times the Red Birds reeled off classy double plays, including one that wound up the game after Williams had got on.

More N.Y. Rangers Sign Contracts

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 (CP) — Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League Saturday announced that forwards Grant Warwick and Joe Bell had signed 1946-47 contracts.

Mac Colville, Joe Cooper, Hal Laycoe and Rudolph Russell and Norm Larsen, the first three defencemen and the latter two forwards, had signed up just before Warwick and Bell.

Centre Ab Demarco now is the only holdout Rangers, who have been holding pre-season training here, will open their NHL schedule at Montreal Oct. 17.

Edmonton Likely To Lose Pringle

Chances of Alex Pringle's remaining with Edmonton Flyers this coming season do not appear very bright. It is understood he has been refused a branch transfer to Alberta and that the matter has been referred to the CAHA.

Pringle was at practice here Monday night, but Vancouver Canucks evidently are still insisting the play for their club again this year.

Fourth Straight

Separate juniors' 17-5 win over Victoria was their fourth straight in high school six-man football league.

Varsity Student Wins Road Race

CALGARY, Oct. 15 -(CP)- Nick Lupaschuk, 25-year-old army veteran and student at the University of Alberta, won the 37th annual Herald road race here Monday in 2 hours, 32 minutes and 1-5 seconds. Another University student, Bob Rosser, winner of the event last year, romped home in the same time as Lupaschuk to take second place honors.

Dick Roe of the Calgary YMCA Olympic club finished third to head his clubmates in the team prize. Roe, winner of the prize for the first novice to finish, required 35 minutes, 11 seconds to cover the six mile course.

Fred Lupaschuk, runs under the colors of the Maple Leaf Athletic Club of Edmonton. He won the three-mile race at Fort Saskatchewan last May 24 and both he and mile events at the Highlands Games on July 1.

Scientist Claims He's Able to Turn Night into Day

Prof. Etienne Vassy, 37-year-old expert on atmospheric physics at the Sorbonne University, Paris, is pictured with his wife in their laboratory. Prof. Vassy announced recently that he and his wife had discovered a formula for turning night into day by means of radio transmission of optical waves, directed at luminous strata in the sky. At any hour of the day, says Prof. Vassy, we will be able to capture enough light from the sky to read without lamps, to drive without headlights and work without illumination. The French pioneer recently built the first French television transmitter in the Maritime Alps and is now constructing the largest television studio in Europe at Mougins on the Riviera.

200 Veterans Buy Alaskan 'Town' To Start Co-operative Settlement

CLEVELAND, (AP)—A party of 200 person—including a doctor, a dentist, and nurses—expect to leave within two weeks to get a new town started in Alaska, in the Chilkoot barracks, five miles south of Skagway.

Major Carl W. Heimmiller of nearby Berea, a founder of the Veterans' Alaska Co-operative company which bought the fully equipped barracks from the interior department as surplus property for $105,000, expressed hope of having a thriving community there by spring.

"Chilkoot is an ideal spot," Maj. Heimmiller said. "We have everything ready to move in—the town has all utilities. Many of the houses are furnished and we have running water and oil heat, sewage and other conveniences."

Sixty-six of the 400 acres are fenced and there are 86 buildings, including a 12-bed hospital, two barrack buildings and a fire station.

All of the first settlers—veterans and their families—have purchased a $100 share of common stock in the co-operative. Maj. Heimmiller, now on terminal leave after six years in the army, said 800 applications were received.

Super-Strong U.S. Paper May Replace Cloth in Goods

WASHINGTON, (NANA)—Bed sheets, shirts, underwear, bath mats, washable towels and napkins and scores of other articles made of paper may be practical soon, due to remarkable developments in papermaking at the U. S. bureau of standards.

It all started with the demand for a superpaper for war maps by the army. After a long series of experiments the bureau provided the army engineers with samples which were subjected to the following seemingly impossible tests:

Placed in mud and driven over by trucks, washed with G.I. soap and steaming hot water, used as floor mats for days, soaked with oil and used to clean rifles, then cleaned with gasoline and used for bath mats, laundered like clothes, boiled in soapy water and then ironed flat. The samples withstood all this harsh treatment and the maps printed on them still were legible.

Awaits Peacetime Use

The army requested all of this remarkable paper that could be produced and since the end of the war there has been so little paper of any kind available that its remarkable potentialities for peace-time use have remained unexploited. Meanwhile the bureau has continued its experiments to produce an even more durable material.

Ordinarily paper becomes weak and usually disintegrates when exposed to water. All binding between its fibers disappears. This has partly overcome by expensive waterproof coatings, which are not very practical for ordinary use.

In the method developed at the bureau of standards, various synthetic resins are incorporated in the paper at the time it is made. These bind the fibers together and are not dissolved or greatly weakened when soaked in water or other liquids. As the bureau report puts it: "apparently the resin supplements or replaces the normal water-sensitive bonds of fiber gel with insoluble and more durable ties."

Can Stand Washing

Even when dry this paper is considerably stronger than any ordinary paper—although this is not considered a very outstanding character. The ability to stand almost any amount of laundering repre-

Australian Rabbits Coats for Canada

CANBERRA, (CP)—Canada ranks second to the United States as a buyer of Australian rabbit skins, Australia's sixth export.

About 90 percent of Australia's rabbit skins are shipped abroad. Australian hat manufacturers and furriers use the remainder.

Value of exported skins was estimated at $19,000,000 in the year ended June 30, compared with $1,-200,000 seven years ago. Increased prices have been a big factor, because the weight of exported skins has only doubled since 1939. Brokers estimate that a good trapper can make from $150 to $200 a week.

Canada is reported to use the skins in the manufacture of fur coats.

8-Mile Rail Tunnel Started in Africa

CAPETOWN, (CP)—Work has begun on an eight-mile tunnel—one of the longest in the world—to improve the railway line between Capetown and Johannesburg. Excavations are under way in the Hex River Valley in the Cape province where some of the most picturesque scenery in South Africa is to be found.

The new tunnel and three others will straighten out one of the most tortuous lines in the Union. The saving will be equivalent to 13 complete circles which trains at present have to negotiate on their way up and down the Hex River mountains.

Because of a shortage of babies' nursing bottle nipples, women of Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, are asking the government to release rubber for making nippies.

Marconi Memorial Awaits Unveiling

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., (CP)—A monument to Guglielmo Marconi, marking the spot where the Italian inventor received the first transatlantic wireless message in history, has stood here for seven years awaiting unveiling.

The monument was erected in 1939 but the official unveiling never took place because the world was too busy with war. It has stood, shrouded in sailcloth on St. John's Citadel Hill, a ghostly sentinel overlooking the harbor mouth.

It stands nine feet high and was a gift of the Canadian Marconi Company to the people of Newfoundland "to commemorate an outstanding event in the island's history and a new era in world communications."

World Skeptical

It was on Dec. 12, 1901 that Marconi, Italian inventor and electrical engineer, startled the world with his feat. He had received a signal from Poldhu on England's southwestern tip 1,900 miles from Newfoundland. The message consisted of the single letter "S" in Morse code and was received distinctly many times during the day's epoch-making experiments.

But the world at first was skeptical. New York newspapers were hesitant to accept it and even Thomas Edison described it as a newspaper fake.

As the truth spread across the world, messages began to pour in from kings, princes and emperors. The limelight of the world was focused on Newfoundland and the inventor.

Even Surprised Himself

Oddly enough, Marconi chose Newfoundland for his experiments in response to a distant plea from its minister of fisheries, T. J. Murphy. The minister had published a chart illustrating scores of 80 wrecked steamers and other vessels which had piled up on the island's rocky shore. Getting in touch with Marconi, he sought erection of a wireless telegraphy station on the dangerous coast.

The inventor accepted the invitation, landed in St. John's early in December, 1901, and began setting up his equipment.

He had previously transmitted a message 225 miles. Now, he said, "I hope to accomplish the feat of sending messages 400 miles." A week later, he far outdid himself with reception of the signal from Poldhu 1,900 miles away.

The United States currently is buying almost all the wool which Chile has for sale.

St. Vincent, British West Indies, now supplies almost all the world's arrowroot.

PEACE RIVER . . . the veteran's promised land?

It looks as though the Peace River district in Canada's Northwest is going to be the promised land for several hundred Albertan vets who want farms of their own! One of the biggest land-clearing projects of recent years is scheduled to start this year; the net result of which will be that a veteran, instead of being plunked down in the middle of a wilderness of brush and forest, will find his new farm already cleared and ready for planting . . . and he can pay for it the easy way, too! The inside story of the Albertan Government-sponsored new deal appears in the The Standard this week, and it's well worth reading!

MAYBE THE ALCAN HIGHWAY ISN'T SUCH A FIZZLE!

Ever since the war ended, the billion-dollar Alcan Highway has been looked upon more or less as a war orphan . . . a baby that everybody wants to forget! But in The Standard this week, an exclusive photo story reveals how the road is beginning to show signs of coming to life . . . with the help of big business and tourists! These pictures show some of the fishing and hunting lodges that are being built and the tourist attractions they will offer. Long considered a lemon, the Alcan Highway may yet turn out to be the gateway to a lucrative tourist business. See these pictures in The Standard—on sale now!

ROMANCE! LOVE! TERROR!

Romance was the last thing Jenny Thorne expected to find at "Castania," the towered house on the Hudson with its terrifying and mysterious past. But she found it—enough to last her a lifetime — in a bewildering, strange and passionate affair with three men. Here's an appealing story of love and terror, written by the famous author, Katherine Newlin Burt, that will keep you intrigued right down to the last chapter. Responsible Government For Newfoundland Asked

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., (CP)—Sternest critic of Newfoundland's present commission government and most outspoken advocate for the return of responsible government is Maj. Peter Cashin of St. John's, finance minister in the days when the island had self-government.

Maj. Cashin, native-born and a veteran of the First Great War, served as finance minister from 1924 until 1932. He remained out of public life until last spring when he was chosen as a candidate for election to the national convention which is to recommend possible forms of government for the island.

In his campaign and since, Maj. Cashin has pulled no punches. He termed the convention a "farce" perpetrated by Britain to prolong her hold over the island. He lashed out at Britain and charged she had failed to keep her promises. He denounced the commission government and charged it with being the tool of the British dominions office rather than the trustee of Newfoundland.

Repeats Charges

These charges and others he repeated in an interview with the Canadian Press.

He said that in 1933 when Newfoundland got into financial difficulties, her constitution was suspended and a commission government was appointed by the United Kingdom to take over management of the country until such times as finances were put back in order.

Under the 1933 agreement Britain had agreed, he said, to return responsible government to the island when finances became stabilized. The island has had balanced budgets since 1941 but Britain still had not indicated she plans to live up to the 1933 agreement and return responsible government.

Maj. Cashin said the convention was a "farce" because it was powerless. It was elected to study the country's position and to recommend possible (he underlined the word possible) future forms of government.

Nothing Definite

There was nothing in the act which stated that the dominions office would definitely take action on any of the recommendations of the convention, or accept the views of the majority of that body, Maj. Cashin said.

Britain had arranged for the election of the convention because the position in Newfoundland "was coming to a point where something had to be done."

He argued that the only possible step for Britain to take was to return responsible government. No other form of government could be discussed until the island regained responsible government. The convention was powerless to accept or make terms with Canada or any other country.

He charged that since it took office in 1934 the commission government had "dissipated" the resources of the country.

United States had been given 99-year leases to bases near St. John's, and in Argentia and Stephenville, both on the west coast. Canada had been given a 99-year lease on the Goose Bay airport in Labrador and the Canadian government-owned Trans-Canada Airlines had been given the Torbay airport on the outskirts of St. John's.

Ratified Agreements

The commission government had ratified the agreements on all the bases, despite the fact that it was only supposed to be the interim trustee of the affairs of Newfoundland.

"The commission government can never hand back the country as it was given to them," said Maj. Cashin.

For instance, the mammoth airport at Gander, operated and expanded by Canada during the war, was turned back to Newfoundland for $1,000,000 and the commission government had undertaken to operate it.

The commissioner of public utilities had told the convention recently that the airport probably would be operated at a deficit of $500,000 annually, although he hoped the situation might improve.

"Newfoundland is being operated by remote control," he said. "The commission government has not the power to appoint an office boy without the permission of the dominions office.

"The dminions office used Newfoundland all during the war for exchange purposes and for its own and not Newfoundland's advantage."

The commission had given away natural resources, he charged. Properties near Gander had been given to the Bowster company of London, Eng., for 99 years. With the land went the right to export raw materials and pulp.

Dr. Hussein Khalidi, secretary of the Palestine Arab higher committee, who has reacted bitterly to President Trumans 'renewed demand for immediate and substantial Jewish immigration in the Holy Land. "Palestine Arabs cannot declare war on the United States but they and the Middle East Arabs can declare a moral war to give President Truman a lesson," he declared.

U. S. Bigwigs Hit By Hotel Strike

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor Louis B. Schwellenbach crossed a picket line Friday.

He had to, to get home.

Presumably Mr. Schwellenbach had to make his own bed Saturday.

The secretary of labor lives in an apartment in the Wardman Park hotel. The staff there and at 17 other leading Washington hotels — homes of senators, representatives and many of the top men of Washington's teeming government agencies — went on strike Friday afternoon in a dispute over wages.

Picket lines of a more sedate and better-dressed type than the average, carrying placards more neatly printed and more subdued than the average, moved quietly in front of the doors of such world-famed hostelries as the Shoreham, the Willard, the Statler and the Mayflower.

A banquet in the Statler for 600 members of the American Federation of Artists (A.F.L.) had to be cancelled.

The party will fly to Cairo, Egypt, and move into Kenya colony and Tanganyika from there.

Refuse Sanctions Against Spanish

LONDON, (CP)—Hector McNeil, minister of state, Monday rejected on behalf of the government demands from its own supporters in the commons that economic sanctions be invoked against Spain.

Mr. McNeil said such action would harm the Spanish people rather than the Spanish chief of state, Generalissimo Franco.

The minister spoke after several Labor members had criticized the British government's policies toward Spain. He said in reply that the government agreed that Franco represented a "thoroughly unpalatable and repugnant regime."

Canada Pays Italy For Troop Costs

ROME, (Reuters)—The Italian foreign office announced Monday that the Canadian government has granted Italy a $3,900,000 credit as reimbursement for military expenses borne on behalf of Canadian troops.

The figure represents one-third of the total expenses borne by Italy for Canadian army expenses in Italy.

Credit Canada With Aiding In Peace Parley Conciliation

By Ross Munro

PARIS, (CP) — Although Canada's part in the Paris peace conference has been unspectacular in public, her delegation probably has done more work behind the scenes than in open meetings.

By private negotiations Canada sought to facilitate the progress of the conference in its attempts to reach an agreement on treaties.

Frequently throughout the conference Canadian delegates privately met leading representatives of western countries, and some Slav nations, to advance compromise solutions on tough subjects.

But it inevitably was a stony path to travel. Prime Minister King devoted a good deal of his time here to talking over conference questions with other delegations in a conciliatory mood.

Health Minister Brooke Claxton, who succeeded Mr. King as leader of the Canadian delegation, Dana Wilgress, Canadian ambassador to the U.S.S.R., and others carried on this policy.

Canada Most Active

Other delegations were naturally working along this line too but Canada seemed to be one of the most active among the mediators.

Even with her backstage work and public utterances, Canada did not emerge from the conference as a leader of the middle and small powers as some observers thought would be likely early in the conference.

If any country tried to give this lead it was Australia but even she did not win the support she felt she warranted for her avalanche of amendments.

This was not a conference which made for leadership of the middle and small states. They either voted with the western group or with the Slav bloc right down the line.

Canada, without exception, voted with the western powers.

Some observers here were disappointed that Canada did not play a more prominent public part in view of the new importance most countries recognize she now holds in the world as a supplying country, one with plenty of foreign exchange, and as a result of her war record.

Role of Conciliation

But the Canadian role throughout the conference was one of restraint and conciliation. She made few speeches, no glaring blunders and she did not press her views persistently on any subject apart from a few economic clauses of the Italian treaty in which she was particularly interested.

Canada followed the general policy of taking a broad interest in all treaties but not biting off more than she could chew. She also recognized the limitations of the conference and the fact that the Big Four hold all the cards in the writing of the final treaties.

A limiting factor in her participation was her small 10-member delegation which carried a heavy burden, especially during the hectic day and night work of the commission's last week.

Canada for the most part made constructive, rather than partisan or inflammatory, speeches. This won her considerable respect from other delegations, including, it seems fair to say, some Slav nations.

As far as relations with Russia go, they certainly have not suffered as a result of the conference. No one can say for certain that they improved although some members of the Canadian delegation believe they have.

Dominion Shows 6 Months Surplus

OTTAWA, (CP) — The dominion government's income for the first six months of the current fiscal year—April 1 to Sept. 30—exceeded expenditures by $118,896,000, the treasury department reported. The surplus was, however, $32,700,000 less than was reported the previous month.

Receipts for the five months were reported at $1,344,268,248 while expenditures totalled $1,225,371,857. For the corresponding period in the previous year receipts were $1,293,666,000 and expenditures $2,177,653,000 leaving a deficit of $881,987,000.

States Returning To Crop Control

WASHINGTON, (AP)—In what may be a tip-off on what's to come on a broad scale, the United States government's resorting to food crop control for the first time since pre-war surpluses.

The agricultural department will tell farmers how many acres of potatoes they should plant for harvest next year. Total national production will be 29 percent smaller than this year. Those who plant more than their allotted share will be denied benefits of the government's price support program.

What has happened in the case of potatoes may happen to wheat, corn and many other farm products within another year or two.

Organize Posses To Fight Cougars

HARRISON MILLS, B.C. (CP)—Farmers and loggers in the surrounding district formed armed posses Monday following reports that a band of 10 cougars was roaming the hills near here. Eisenhower Godfather to Tedder's Son

Gen. Eisenhower acted as godfather at a christening of the baby son of Lord Tedder, marshal of the R.A.F. and "Ike's" second-in-command during the invasion of Europe. The ceremony took place in the ancient, 800-year-old chapel of St. Margaret's, Edinburgh Castle, Scotland. This picture makes photographic history, being the first photo of any ceremony ever taken inside the tiny chapel. Photo shows, left to right: Gen. Eisenhower, Very Rev. Dr. L. South African to Study Canadian Radio System

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Commercial broadcasting in Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the United States will be studied by Rene Caprara, director of the South African Broadcasting Corporation, before a commercial system is established in the Union, it is learned.

His report will serve as a basis for decision whether the S.A.B.C. will extend its present system of non-commercial broadcasting in English and Afrikaans over 21 transmitters.

The proposal to introduce commercial broadcasting has had a mixed reception, mainly favorable. The man in the street thinks it would introduce competition and probably help to improve the quality of programs.

No Private Stations

There are no privately-owned stations in South Africa and commercial broadcasting has not been allowed since 1936 when the S.A.B.C. took over the system owned by I. W. Schlesinger, which was run on purely commercial lines with "plugging" of commodities in a way which many listeners found objectionable.

The proposed commercial system would be under the control of the S.A.B.C. in matters of good taste and so on and the corporation would decide how much advertising would be allowed, just as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation does.

There would be four stations to start, at Johannesburg, Capetown, Durban and Port Elizabeth. The S.A.B.C. would encourage advertisers to produce their own programs.

High Listening Fee

There are approximately 380,000 licensed radio listeners in South Africa for a population of 2,000,000 Europeans and 8,000,000 natives. Listeners pay an annual fee of 35 shillings ($7.80) compared with $3.50 in Canada, and there has been grumbling about the amount of the license and the quality of the fare provided.

Mr. Caprara believes South Africa has the most difficult broadcast conditions in the Commonwealth, with geography, a scattered population and the high incidence of static the main difficulties. He foresees improvement with the extra revenue from commercial broadcasting and with the competition in programs which will thus be introduced.

At present services from the main transmitters begin at 6:45 a.m. and end at 11 p.m. with breaks from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. and from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Canadians' Effort In Atlantic Told

LONDON, (CP)— The vital part played by Canada in the battle of the Atlantic and the defeat of the U-boat menace was noted Monday in "The Battle of the Atlantic," a book published by the central office of information.

It quotes in full, for example, the feat of Flt. Lt. D. E. (Bud) Hornell, former Mimico, Ont., schoolteacher who sank an enemy submarine although the aircraft in which he was attacking was badly damaged. Flt. Lt. Hornell, fatally injured in the attack, was posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross.

There is scarcely a major action described in the narrative in which a Canadian corvette or destroyer did not take part. Surrender of the U-boat 501 to the corvettes Chambly and Moose Jaw while they were on a snake-down cruise, successes in the Mediterranean and the tragic loss of the St. Croix whose survivors later were lost in the sinking of rescue ships, are but a few.

The book traces the development of the convoy system and air-en measures to counter U-boats. It also recounts developments and improvements of submarines which remained dangerous to the end.

It describes several convoy operations of which the following shows the manner in which escort convoys dealt with the menace:

A group led by Cmdr. P. W. Gretton of the Royal Navy sailed from the United Kingdom April 23, with a convoy which was subjected to repeated mass attacks during the 16-day crossing. By May 4, 40 U-boats were in contact with the convoy and in the next three days and nights sank 10 ships.

But in one night alone the escorts frustrated 24 attacks, sinking six U-boats and damaging others.

The same group left Halifax for Britain May 11 with a slow convoy of 37 merchant ships and despite repeated attacks which forced the unwieldy convoy to execute complicated manoeuvres, reached port without loss.

U.K. CROP YIELD LESS

LONDON, (CP)—Reductions in British crop production as a result of abnormally wet weather in August and September were indicated Monday in the agriculture ministry's 1946 yield forecasts. On 2,000,000 acres sown to wheat the estimated yield will be 17.7 hundredweight an acre compared to 19 last year.

Ample Supplies, Low Prices Bring Channel Island "Boom"

ST. HELIER, Jersey, (CP) —Their freedom regained, Channel Islanders here lost no time removing all traces of the German invader, preparing for the happier invasion of tourists.

In 15 months the islands have recovered both their lure and their visitors and there is little to distinguish Jersey today from the holiday playground it was before the war. Hotels and boarding houses have been reconditioned and repaired.

British austerity is forgotten. Goods in short supply in England are plentiful and since there is no purchase tax, prices seem absurdly low to visitors.

Remove Mines, Wire

Tidying up Jersey took all of 12 months. Hundreds of notices in German had to be removed from the roads and barbed wire and mines from the beaches. German tanks were shipped out and the last German prisoners left in June.

The great wall erected by the Germans along the wide sweep of St. Brelades Bay remains but it has been pierced to give access to the sea.

In the adjoining churchyard is a permanent memorial to the German occupation—long rows of black crosses, more numerous than might be expected seeing there was no fighting on the island.

The agriculture industry has suffered temporary loss of the British market for its crops, but an alternative market has been found in France and in the British Army of the Rhine. The dairy herd suffered less than farmers expected.

Varied Views on Germans

Reports on life under German rule are conflicting. Some call it "unendurable" and liken the Germans to friends. Others declare life was not much disturbed and a few give the Germans credit for fair administration.

"When they had the food, they saw to it that everyone on the island got his fair share," said one gnarled old fisherman.

"If you played the game and didn't try any monkey business with wireless sets and what-not, why the German was a pretty good fellow to get along with."

An English woman who keeps a small cafe spoke differently. "Those who like them should go and live with them," she said angrily. "They are devils. They raided every home on this island and took the best of everything. Fair play—bah!"

Spain Up Again At U.N. Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., (AP)—The United Nations security council this week debates eligibility for the international court, reopening the whole issue of Franco Spain over which Russia and the western powers have split frequently.

Delegates in session Tuesday afternoon faced an agenda calling for discussion of conditions under which the international court of justice, principal judicial organ of the U.N., shall be open to non-member states. On the basis of past arguments, Spain is the only country being disputed.

The lineup generally appears the same as in many previous council cases with Russia and Poland against allowing Spain, which is barred from U.N. membership, to have access to the court, and with the other nine delegates generally agreed that all countries should have such court privileges.

Five months of discussions in the council's committee of experts failed to solve the problem and it was decided to throw it back to the council.

The United States position will follow that taken in the committee, it was indicated. This stand passed over discussion of Spain or any other country on the contention that the question is juridical and not political and all countries should have access to a court of justice.

This will be the fourth recent test on the determined, policy of the Soviet Union to bar Franco Spain from every organ affiliated with the United Nations.

Russia won in the first instance, with Spain being refused a place on the narcotics control board, but was voted down on its demands that the Franco government should be denied membership in the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization (P.I.C.A.O.) and the international chamber of commerce.

Tuesday's session was the first public meeting for the council since Sept. 24 when delegates voted down Russia's request for a report on troop dispositions. It also may be the final session at which Andrei A. Gromyko of the Soviet Union will preside, the gavel going to Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain Thursday under the monthly rotation plan.

Canadian Nickel

will bring you real Silk Stockings

THE FIRST POST-WAR SHIPMENTS of silk from China are now beginning to move across the Pacific. Before long, it is hoped, real silk stockings and fabrics will again be available.

As the expansion of Chinese industry gains momentum, China will require more Canadian Nickel. Canadian Nickel will go to China; Chinese silk will come to Canada. Each product will help pay for the other.

Less than three per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is consumed in Canada. The rest is exported, and the money received helps to pay for silk and other products necessary to good living in Canada. Canada cannot keep on importing from other lands unless she exports Canadian goods.

Each increase in the export of Canadian Nickel means more workers employed in the Canadian Nickel industry, and more employment for other thousands of Canadians who produce the lumber, power, steel, explosives, machinery and supplies used by the Canadian Nickel industry.

By expanding the use of Nickel at home and abroad, the Canadian Nickel industry brings additional benefits to Canada and Canadians.

New Dining Service Comes to Edmonton

One of the most modern and outstanding combined restaurants and dining rooms in western Canada is being opened officially in Edmonton on Tuesday by Harold Merrick, well known city businessman.

Located on the north side of Jasper ave., between 103 and 104 sts., in a modern $100,000 three-storey office building erected by Mr. Merrick this year, the cafe and dining room, or Embassy Room, as it will be called, are "the latest" in dining adventures. The restaurant is on the ground floor while the Embassy Room is below the street level.

The second and third floors of the palatial structure are used for offices and a specialty shop, operated by Miss Delilah Merrick. The second floor is for medical offices and the third, for general offices. The specialty shop, with a large plate glass window facing on to Jasper ave. is on the second floor. The building is of concrete and steel and is 25 by 130 feet in length. Entrance to the offices is located on Jasper ave., west of the restaurant and Embassy Room entrance.

Quick Service

The restaurant and Embassy Room provide accommodation for 240 people. The restaurant has been constructed to provide "quick service" for hundreds of Edmonton businessmen who are unable to get home for lunch or supper during the day.

Mr. Merrick plans to cater to light and full course meals "a la carte" style.

The patrons will pay only for what they eat under these conditions. Should a customer order a bowl of soup and small steak, he will not pay for any dessert as is the custom in many other city restaurants.

The meals will be cooked according to the formulae of some of the leading chefs in the world, according to Mr. Merrick. In this connection, Mr. Merrick has been fortunate in securing Miss Helen Adair Peters as head dietician.

Miss Peters, formerly with the Royal Canadian Air Force, has worked in the Galt hospital, Lethbridge, and at the Prince of Wales Hotel, Waterton, and is an expert in diet preparations.

Horse-Shoe Style

The restaurant counters are laid out in horse-shoe style, which provides for quicker service. The stools are placed far enough apart that customers have ample elbow room. Ninety stools will be available in the restaurant while the dining room will seat 150 persons.

Entrance to the restaurant is most effective with special mirrors on all sides. The floor in the restaurant and the Embassy room is specially tiled, while the floor in the kitchen is coved with a tiling which is greaseproof.

Cooking facilities—the very latest—for light lunches are located in a sound-proof enclosure on the east side of the building. There is a long opening through which the waitresses receive the orders from the kitchen. The main kitchen for the Embassy Room and also the restaurant is located at the rear of the building. All cooking is done by steam in the most modern equipment.

The Embassy Room is one of the most outstanding features of the new adventure. Its entrance is down a heavy carpeted stairway to the lower floor.

Special Room

Although it has a large seating capacity, a special room equipped with couches and a powder room is located through an alcove at the south end. This provides waiting room for the patrons. The room, which runs practically the full length of the building, is decorated in striking shades of blue and gold, which are shown to the best advantage by indirect lighting fixtures located on the walls.

Patrons will be greeted in the Embassy Room by at least two experienced hostesses, Mrs. P. Glendinning, senior hostess, from Montreal and Mrs. Lorraine Powell, of Edmonton. The tables, made especially for the new room, will be covered with gleaming white linen and special silverware.

The restaurant and Embassy Room are specially air conditioned. Another of the many features which Mr. Merrick has installed in his new project is dining music for patrons of the Embassy Room.

Mr. Merrick plans to have a staff of 75 to 100 waiters, waitresses, cooks and other help and to be open from 8:00 a.m. to 12:30 a.m. each day. In this way, he will be able to cater to persons who are downtown during the day, and also to others who are in search of a leading restaurant after attending a motion picture or a dance.

Although one of the most exclusive of its kind in western Canada, Merricks cannot be considered a "high price" restaurant and dining room. The prices for lunches in the Embassy Room range from 50 to 85 cents, and for dinners 95 cents and up. The food prices in the restaurant division range from 15 cents to 65 cents.

This is a view of the newest building along Jasper Avenue—the Merrick Building. It is a four story structure—three above ground level, one below. The simplicity and modernity of design adds a striking note to Edmonton's main thoroughfare. The building is surprisingly spacious inside, and every new improvement in building technique has been utilized. It is a credit to one of Canada's fastest growing cities.

Merrick Menus Are Unique

One of the prize souvenirs of any tourist is a menu from the famous or out-of-the-way eating places visited during a journey. In many homes you'll find these menus tucked away, with appropriate notes on the date and place, ready to be displayed to interested guests as proof of an actual visit to a particular spot of interest. In the duffle bags of many World War Two veterans, for instance, you'll find cafe menus from Rome, Paris, London, Berlin, Brussels, and other famous continental spots. Some are in the shape of a wine-glass, some are finely engraved in the old-world style, some are bizarre in their modernity. Since menus thus appear to be a "show-card" of any dinery, it is not surprising that Edmonton's new Merrick eating centres have specialized in uniquely attractive menus, destined to become among the prize "catches" of any collection.

H. E. Merrick has been one of Western Canada's leading restaurateurs for many years. In his new building, he combines all of his experience in this field, and is concentrating completely on these new adventures in dining.

The theme of the Merrick menus is "This Province Of Ours." In striking color combinations, the menus feature scenes of beauty throughout Alberta. There are five different scenes for each season. Guests at the main-floor restaurant will see in the full series each pictures as "Pastoral Beauty In The Mountains", "Bend Of The River", "A Bee And Harvest", "Edmonton Morning", and others. Each menu has its own color combination, in keeping with the time of day in which it will be used.

A new series of these will appear with each season. The current menus are all autumn scenes in Alberta, to be followed by typical winter pictures, spring pictures, and summer pictures. Below each scene are a few brief words of description, telling where the picture was taken, and reminding the reader that "Beauty is everywhere in this Province of ours."

The menu for "The Embassy Room" is in keeping with the modern dignity of this new dining room service. Each menu is hand stitched, and is printed in four colors, including gold. A daily insert shows the table d'hote specials, and on the facing page the regular a la carte foods.

Hostesses Have Wide Experience

Since "The Embassy Room" boasts of polished service, it is only natural that it will provide its clientele with the added service of two experienced hostesses. Mrs. P. Glendinning is one, Mrs. Lorraine Powell the other.

The hostesses will conduct guests to their tables, and maintain unobtrusive, but full supervision of service. If any guest has a particular request, some special food he wishes prepared, a call for the hostess will bring personal service in the matter.

Mrs. P. Glendinning has gained experience in one of Eastern Canada's leading restaurant chains. She was associated with Murray's Limited in both Montreal and Toronto. Mrs. Glendinning has been hostess to many of Canada's leading dignitaries, and has on occasion provided service to distinguished visitors from many lands.

The second hostess, Mrs. Lorraine Powell, gained her experience at leading Western Canadian hotels. Her training now even further back, however, to early days as a coffee counter owner in one of Alberta's major towns.

"The Embassy Room" wishes to encourage guests in taking advantage of the experience these two women have. One of them will always be in attendance, ready to supervise the most particular desire of a guest.

The hostesses, the music, the food, the service, the background of specially selected music seem to point the way to a full realization of the claim for the Embassy Room: "a new adventure in dining."

Strike of Miners Nears End in B. C.

VANCOUVER, (CP)—The end of British Columbia's last remaining major labor dispute—the 106-day-old walkout of 2,000 hardrock miners—was in sight Monday as union officials advised their members to accept Chief Justice Sloans' proposals for copper mines and the government-appointed conciliator disclosed he would suggest settlement terms for gold mines shortly.

Strikers at the two copper mines involved, representing about one-half the striking miners who quit at 12 mines July 3, are expected to take a referendum vote this week on the chief justice's settlement recommendations.

C. H. Locke, spokesman for the operators, said that the companies also will have their reply ready by the Wednesday deadline set by the chief justice for acceptance or rejection.

The chief justice's suggested settlement terms for the copper mines included wage increase proposals based on a straight wage raise per shift, payment of special bonuses and shift differentials, which he said would amount to 14½ cents per hour for miners and timbermen and 12½ cents for other workers. He also recommended a 44-hour work week and dues check-off.

Nazis Developed New Submarines

LONDON, (CP)— The British admiralty and air ministry, taking the wraps off hitherto secret files, disclosed Monday that Germany developed new submarines in the closing days of the war which might have revolutionized undersea warfare.

A description of the new U-boats was contained in an official book, "The Battle of the Atlantic," written by Capt. H. T. Dorling of the Royal Navy, widely known under the pseudonym "Taffrail."

The new underwater boats, Capt. Dorling wrote, were prefabricated, and their parts constructed at scattered workshops throughout the reich. The vessels had streamlined hulls, and were capable of high speed when submerged and of making long trips at sea.

The Germans intended to produce 330 of the submarines in 1943, but continual air attacks against Nazi installations prevented them from getting the new craft into action.

German U-boats destroyed 69 per-cent of the total tonnage lost by the Allies. They are credited with sinking 2,775 merchantmen totalling about 14,500,000 gross tons.

If You're on Meat Diet Don't Chew, Just Swallow

CHURCHILL — Lt.-Col. Graham Rowley is the kind of man you meet once in a lifetime—if you're lucky.

The slight, 33-year-old Arctic adventurer, who spent pre-war years in Baffin Island and the north Hudson Bay area, lived, ate and slept with the Eskimos for two years.

He left with the impression that the Eskimos are the "kindliest, most courteous" people he has ever met.

"The Eskimo is also extremely intelligent," he said. "He has to be or he wouldn't be able to survive."

Half Eaten Raw

With the Eskimos Col. Rowley learned to subsist on a straight meat diet—preferably walrus, but deer and seal are good too. Fifty percent of the meat is eaten raw, the rest boiled.

And you don't chew—you swallow.

"You just bite off a chunk and let it roll down," says the Manchester, England, native who "blundered" into exploring after receiving a degree in archaeology from Cambridge university.

Appointed to command the Baker Lake force, the refuelling base for R.C.A.F. Dakota supply planes in the 3,200-mile Muskox expedition, Col. Rowley said the Eskimo language and religion are two intriguing developments of the race.

Eskimos and Religion

Officially the hardy habitants of the ice-sheathed north are Protestant or Roman Catholic—"about half and half." But it's difficult to tell how deep the veneer it.

The original Eskimo religion, based on taboos and primitive ritual, is dying. In the old days when fishing or hunting was unproductive, the theory was that the seals were impounded by the "woman who lived at the bottom of the sea." So the Eskimos held a seance and a "magician" implored the keeper of the seals to release them.

All younger Eskimos can read and write. Their language is syllabic, built around a combination of vowel and consonant sounds developed by a missionary named Peck from a language originally taught the Cree Indians by another missionary. They write simple letters to their friends and relatives about their day-to-day activities and the things they have seen.

Col. Rowley, who enlisted in the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps in December, 1939, when the annual boat brought tidings to the north-land of the war against Germany, insists the Eskimos are a kindly, warm-hearted folk.

"Except in cases of insanity, I've never seen a case where an Eskimo treated his family with anything but loving care."

R.C.A.F. Adds Vast Areas To Northern Aerial Maps

OTTAWA, (CP) — The R.C.A.F., the instrument Canada uses to map out her uncharted empire, photographed more than 370,000 square miles of northern Canada last summer in continuation of a job that has gone on for 20 years and will continue for many more.

Air survey crews operating from sub-Arctic points photographed 202,000 square miles by what is known as the large-scale vertical method and another 170,000 square miles by the tri-camera method. The later system takes in a greater area than the one-camera method of vertical photography but the air pictures do not possess the same fineness of detail.

Concentrating chiefly on communications and transport duties until its training program swings back into full operation next year, the air force is carrying on its air survey a job that has been under way for two decades. Negatives for all pictures are kept in a huge vault at Rockcliffe air station at Ottawa.

Gives Accurate Maps

The reasons for photographic survey are several. The need for accurate maps of new areas for settlement by veterans, the location of regions rich in minerals which can be determined from geological "faults" in the terrain, and the need for information about areas requiring control of flood conditions or the prevention of soil erosion are examples. Another is the need for better maps for purposes of national defence.

Of the two types of photographic survey, the vertical air survey is the original method. It is used for mapping and for detailed exploration of such things as—water power development; soil reclamation and irrigation projects and land development for soldier settlement; mineral exploration; hydrographic survey for inland waterways; forestry service and coverage of flooded areas for dyke projects.

Tri-camera photography is intended for basic exploration. Its purposes are—coverage of large areas where photographs are required immediately; coverage in cases where large-scale maps are not required; and general survey from which likely areas will be chosen for detailed survey.

In vertical photography only one camera is used. It takes a series of overlapping pictures of the ground.

Covers to Horizon

In tri-camera photography, besides a centrally positioned camera taking a vertical photograph, two oblique cameras at the same time take photos overlapping the central vertical photo and extending, one right and one left, to each horizon. They are usually from 20,000 feet above sea level, and have not nearly the detail that ordinary verticals have. But they can take a much greater area.

On a good photographic day 25,000 square miles of tri-camera photos can be taken, as compared with only 600 to 1,000 square miles by the vertical method. Canada could not be photographed completely for 50 or 60 years at the present rate if only verticals were used. But from tri-camera photos experts can select areas for further investigation, which will lead to the most economical use of the facilities available for vertical photography.

From an operational standpoint, the greatest handicap in the north is the short season. Photographs must be taken when there is no snow or ice on the ground.

List U. K. Pensions To Former Leaders

LONDON, (CP)—Britain's bill for annuities and pensions, including payments to two former prime ministers, four late lord chancellors and Queen Mary, totalled £652,284 ($2,609,136) in the last fiscal year, says a treasury statement.

Annuities charged on the consolidated fund included £70,000 for Queen Mary and £31,000 for the trustees of the children of King George V, the payments having been authorized under legislation passed by parliament.

Rt. Hon. Viscount Ullswater, late speaker of the house of commons, has a pension of £4,000 and Earl Baldwin, the former Stanley Baldwin, receives £2,000 as did Earl Lloyd George, another former prime minister, until his death last year.

Power Agreement Cancellation Asked

City council Tuesday night, at what may be the final meeting of the 1945-46 council, will consider a suggestion from the Calgary Power Co., that the 1941 power interchange agreement be cancelled as from May 1, 1946, and that it be replaced by an interim agreement from that date until May 1, 1947, when a final agreement will be drafted.

UNDER THE INTERIM agreement it is proposed that the company will not increase its debt to the city, and that if the company finds it necessity to obtain additional power from the city during the coming winter that a cash adjustment covering this power be made.

Council also will consider a proposal from the municipal district of Stony Plain that the city take over zoning and building control in West Jasper Place. The city commissioners are favorable to an agreement with the municipality for this service, subject to a proper bylaw being passed by the municipality under which the city's building inspector's office could operate. They request authority to enter into the agreement with the municipality.

ALSO TO COME UP for consideration is a report from the commissioners that 15 civic employees have taken up residence outside the city subsequent to their entering the civic service. It is a pre-requisite to employment with the city that the applicant must have two years residence in Edmonton, and subsequent to employment residence must be maintained within the city limits.

The cases under review fall into two categories: 1, employees who have been engaged by the city for sometime, but as ex-servicemen have taken up holdings outside the city under the terms of the Veterans' Land Act; 2, those who have been compelled to go outside the city to secure accommodation because of the impossibility of finding quarters in the city. The commissioners ask council to define a policy covering these cases.

COUNCIL ALSO will be asked to cancel the last regular meeting which is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 28. This request is made because the council chamber will be stripped of its furniture so it can be used as the main election office. The commissioners, in their report, point out that a special meeting can be called if any urgent matters come up. This meeting could be held in the public school board room. Cancellation of the regular meetings of the finance and bylaws committees also suggested.

Passes on the Edmonton transportation system for old-age pensioners is asked in a communication from the Social Security League of Canada.

THE CANADIAN National Institute of the Blind is seeking land at the northwest corner of 124 street and Jasper avenue as the site for its service for Edmonton's blind. It is requested that this property be made available under a 99-year lease at a nominal figure, or transferred to the institute at a nominal figure.

It is pointed out that the provincial government is making a grant of $25,000 toward the construction of the service centre. The estimated initial cost of the centre is placed at $100,000 with provision to be added as conditions permit.

Council will consider the resignation of Ald. Mrs. E. M. Browne, who handed her resignation to City Clerk G. S. Docherty on Sept. 23 last on the ground of ill-health.

THREE PETITIONS are coming before council, one from residents along the St. Albert trail, seeking the extension of the present bus line from 118 avenue and 124 street to the Northern Alberta Railway shops; another requests the withdrawal of a building permit authorizing the erection of a dry cleaning plant in the Inglewood subdivision; the third requests the revoking, if granted, and refusal to grant any permit or permits for the erection of dry cleaning businesses, or manufacturing business in the vicinity of 124 street and 110 avenue.

Thanksgiving Marked With Worship, Rest

Commencing with services of worship Sunday when thanks for a bountiful harvest and national well-being were given, Edmontonians joined with the rest of Canada in observing the Thanksgiving Day week-end in traditional manner.

WIND, RAIN AND snow that arrived in Edmonton Sunday night, to replace the warm, clear autumn weather earlier in the day, did not dampen the spirits of Edmonton folk who took advantage of the holiday week-end to relax, or to prepare for winter.

Saturday many residents left for nearby lakes for duck shooting and many returned to the city with their full quota of ducks.

Others took advantage of time off from work to go home for the celebrations—to Calgary, or nearby country points where they marked Thanksgiving among relatives and close friends.

HOUSEHOLDERS, with an eye to winter, put on storm windows, raked fallen leaves and generally spruced up their homes and gardens Saturday but on Monday were content to sit indoors and look out on the soft carpet of snow that blanketed the landscape.

Family dinners, complete with turkey, chicken, or more generally a "roast," were held throughout the day on Monday. Others went visiting cr downtown.

COOL WEATHER was predominant throughout Western Canada, fine weather being the bill of fare for citizens of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

Signs of Winter Appear in City

First tangible signs of winter were seen in Edmonton over the week-end, when .12 of an inch of snow fell on city lawns and streets. Temperature over Sunday and Monday remained low, never rising above the 32 degree freezing level. Lowest temperature Sunday was 29 degrees and the lowest Monday was 28 degrees.

CONTINUATION of the cool weather is seen in the forecast given by the weather bureau for Wednesday. It is expected that Friday will be clear, but the high temperature for the day will reach only 45 degrees. An overnight low of 25 degrees is anticipated tonight.

2,115 Veterans At University

Almost one half of the students enrolled at the University of Alberta, this year, are exservice personnel. Figures released today by the department of veterans affairs reveal that 2,115 veterans are enrolled at the university to date.

Of this number, 320 are enrolled with the faculty of education; 191 with the faculty of agriculture; 777, arts and science; 118 with medicine; 60 with dentistry; 38 with law; and 611 with the faculty of applied science.

The above figures will be subject to change when registration has been completed. Post graduate students are not shown.

Plan No Extension Vets' Allowances

There will be no extension of out-of-work allowances granted to veterans, after the 52-week period has elapsed after their discharge, John Proctor, district administrator department of veterans affairs, said Tuesday morning. Mr. Proctor has just returned from a district administrators' conference held in Ottawa and Montebello.

HE SAID that he saw no change of policy forthcoming in the management of veterans' affairs, in this district, for the coming year. The department here, will carry on, on much the same basis as it has for the last year, with a very slight decrease in expenditures foreseen.

Recent action of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce in forming a Get-the-Vote committee to urge citizens to vote in the municipal election, Nov. 6, is in keeping with action of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce planned to promote more interest in politics.

City Regains Airport Control

Edmonton's airport returned to municipal control Tuesday after being under National defence control for most of the war years.

Under the terms of the agreement transferring the airport control to the city, the Dominion government has agreed to pay a subsidy of $25,000 annually to the city until such time as returns from operation can be determined.

While the control of the airport is returned to the city, many of the buildings are now occupied by the RCAF, and negotiations are continuing between the city commissioners and air force officials for the release of these structures to municipal control.

BOND SALE DRIVE OPENS: Plans were formulated at the Civic Block Tuesday for the 100 per cent participation of the 1,500 civic employes in the Canada Savings Bond drive which opened today. Superintendents and members of the executives of the different civic unions met during the afternoon to discuss details. It is anticipated that the civic employes will obtain an equally high standard of purchase this year as compared with the previous Victory Loan campaigns. Above seated in the front row are J.A. Staton, secretary of the Edmonton Civic Employes Federation; Mayor Harry Ainlay, and Const. Fred Sloane, president of the federation. In the back row are John Pollock, a former secretary of the federation, C.M. Small, city treasurer, A.A. Campbell, city comptroller, and K.P. Duggan, a member of the Canada Savings Bond campaign executive.

New Bond Drive Officially Opened

The Canada Savings Bond drive officially opened Tuesday in Edmonton and throughout the province, and officials are confident that Edmontonians will meet this national call for investment with the same wholeheartedness with which they responded to the Victory Loans.

IN THE PRE-CAMPAIGN week one Edmonton company had passed the 100 per cent mark of signing up employes and organizers for the loan report that employers are giving unanimous support to the loan in providing facilities for their staffs to participate in the loan through payroll deductions.

Prospective purchasers who do not come within the payroll deduction plan can purchase their bonds through banks, investment companies, trust and loan companies, and through provincial treasury branches.

The bonds are sold in $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 denominations and will bear interest at the rate of 2.75 per cent. The bonds may be cashed at any time through banks for their full face value plus accrued interest.

ENTHUSIASTIC organization meetings were held at the legislative buildings and at the Civic Block at which 100 per cent cooperation in the present campaign was forthcoming from employes' representatives.

Throughout the city employers employes are adopting the pay roll savings plan to enable their employes to participate in the loan.

Edmonton campaign, and it is estimated that more than 90 per cent of the Canada Savings Bond campaign executive.

$62,000 Raised by Chest

Commencing the final week of the drive for funds for the Edmonton Community Chest, financial reports show that a total of $62,000 has been raised to date.

Alf Chard, chairman of the campaign expressed hope that Edmonton citizens will respond wholeheartedly during this last week of the drive, and the city will reach its high objective of $225,000.

U. S. Seeks Air Rights In Kurile Island Chain

A representative of the state department of the United States is now on his way to Moscow, or already there, for the purpose of reaching an agreement with Russia for possible use of air bases in the Kurile Island chain for emergency landings of planes flying the Northwest Great Circle route to the Orient, it was learned here Tuesday.

Although Russia did not participate in the big world aviation conference in Chicago, officials of Northwest Air Lines, which plans to inaugurate passenger service between the United States and the Orient via Edmonton, are optimistic over discussions that are to take place about the route with the Soviet government.

"THE VERY FACT that Russia has permitted the state department representative to visit the Soviet to discuss the question of landing rights in the Kuriles is in itself a very favorable sign," Don King, vice-president in charge of Eastern Operations for North West Air Lines, said.

The Kuriles are a chain of islands, extending out beyond the Aleutians, lying just to the right of the Great Circle route. They are now under Russian control since the close of the Pacific war, and are known to have several good air fields.

"WE WOULD NOT make any of the Kuriles a scheduled stop but would like the right to use them for emergency landings if the need should arise," Mr. King pointed out.

"We look upon the Great Circle Route as a truly world air route and would like to see all nations have the right to its use," he added.

Christian Science Service is Held

A timely gathering took place at the Christian Science church for the Thanksgiving service on Monday. It was opened with congregational singing of the Hymn, "This Is The Day The Lord Hath Made". Then followed the regular order of service for this occasion, including a Scriptural selection, silent prayer, and the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer and its spiritual interpretation from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, and another Hymn, "We Thank Thee And We Bless Thee".

The following passages from the Lesson-Sermon brought messages to all: "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions." (Psalms 107:20). "This is the 'beauty of holiness,' that when Truth heals the sick, it casts out evils, and when Truth casts out the evil called disease, it heals the sick." (Science and Health, p. 154).

After the solo, "Thanks Be To God" the meeting was opened for the giving of testimonies of healing and benefits received, and many took advantage of this opportunity to relate inspiring and uplifting experiences.

HE IS ACCOMPANIED by W. M. Reif, London, England grain broker, and representative of McCabe in Britain, on a tour of the prairies, looking into the prospects of obtaining seed grains for Britain and continental Europe.

The two grain men are returning to Winnipeg from Edmonton.

Ottawa Supports Stand of Legion

Justification of a protest made by the Canadian Legion, concerning the employment of several men at the Canadian government elevator in Edmonton in preference to returned servicemen, has been received by W. J. Williams, MLA, secretary-treasurer of the Montgomery Branch, Canadian Legion, BESL.

This justification is in the form of a letter from the Civil Service Commission in Ottawa. The letter upholds the position taken by the legion when demanded the veterans' employment at the elevator.

The commission pointed out that, by law, the position must be open to veterans on return from active service.

Mr. Williams is confident that with this support, reinstatement of the veterans in employment is assured.

Home-Building Tops 1,500 Mark

Edmonton's home-building program swept well past the 1,500 mark Tuesday when a permit for $600,000 was taken out covering the erection of 118 houses on the Grierson estate by the department of veterans affairs.

The total of permits issued this year to date now stands at 1,551 with a permit value of $6,457,525. This is a record both in point of number of permits and in value for the period.

THE TOTAL OF ALL permits issued now stands at $13,358,000, approximately $600,000 below the $14,000,000 of permits anticipated by 1946. Home-building permits exceed the 1,500 predicted by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect. Civic officials are confident that the $14,000,000 mark will be exceeded despite shortages of building materials and labor.

No Shell-Out Drive Planned This Year

The Edmonton Kinsmen club will not sponsor Hallowe'en shellout this year, E.T. Morrison, club president, announced today. In making the announcement Mr. Morrison stated that the club has been receiving numerous requests from teachers, parents and children seeking information about the club's plans for the annual shellout. The decision to discontinue the project was made at the regular executive meeting last Thursday, though it has been generally known for many months that last year's shellout was the final such project sponsored by the Kinsmen.

IN ANNOUNCING the discontinuation of shellout Mr. Morrison stated that during the war years this project served a very valuable two-fold purpose, first, to encourage children's participation here to raise funds for milk for British children and second, to discourage vandalism on Hallowe'en night.

Last year, proceeds from the shellout were turned back to school children locally in the form of improved playgrounds and added recreational equipment. Though last year's response was very generous in many school areas, Mr. Morrison pointed out that with the war over enthusiasm generally had subsided. In view of this, it was decided to discontinue the project.

Supply of Jewelry Now More Abundant

Merchandise situation is showing a marked improvement in the jewelry trade, with the supply of new diamonds, English china and glassware becoming more abundant in Canada, Henry G. Birks, Montreal, president of Henry Birks and Sons Ltd., said in an interview here Monday evening.

W.H. BIRKS

THE HEAD OF the Birks chain of stores, is in the west on an annual tour of inspection of company branches. Arriving here from the coast he planned to leave Wednesday for Saskatoon. In Edmonton he conferred with L. Stanley Nelson, manager of the store here.

Speaking as to the improved supply outlook, Mr. Birks said:

"We have all the diamonds and all the watches we need, either on hand or coming.

"THE SITUATION as to English china, glassware and leather goods is also improving. Electroplate is still scarce but silverware is more plentiful. I feel sure that by Christmas our stock situation will be greatly improved over last year."

Last year the diamond and precious stones expert of the Henry Birks stores made an airplane trip of 22,000 miles to South American countries, lining up sources of supply. This year he flew 23,000 miles to England, continental Europe and South Africa for the same purpose.

"HE WAS highly successful and we are now assured of a good supply of diamonds in our Canadian trade," Mr. Birks said.

He saw little hope of an early removal or lessening of the heavy taxes on jewelry.

Getting diamonds set is now the main problem confronting jewelers, the Birks firm plans to open a new store in Victoria, BC, within the next year. Premises will be rented as it is impossible to get building materials under present conditions.

No additions are planned for Edmonton in the immediate future, the president said.

HENRY BIRKS and Sons Ltd. employs 1,400 persons in the chain of stores across the Dominion and 256 of these saw service in Canada's armed forces during the Second World War.

President Birks is a grandson of the original founder of the company and of the third generation of the well-known house of jewelry merchants.

His own sons are also with the firm and President Birks is proud of the fact that the fourth generation is now functioning with the old firm.

"THERE ARE FEW firms in Canada with such a record. Excessive taxation is wiping out the family firm," he said.

8 Vehicles Stolen

One automobile remains missing out of six autos and two trucks reported as stolen to city police over the long week-end. The remaining auto, a 1937 sedan, is owned by J. Roux, 13088 113 street. A 1934 coach belonging to F. Baril, 10636 104 street was recovered after the thieves struck and slightly injured a woman. Following the accident the occupants ran off and abandoned the vehicle.

"False Alarm"

City police and firemen thought Monday that either Hallowe'en had arrived before time or their calenders were a little out of date, when following a report that a young girl was hanging from the telephone wires at 95 street and 102A avenue, both police and firemen responded only to find two large dolls suspended from a string thrown across the wires.

Mrs. W. Styles Quits Work

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 15 — (CP) — Mrs. Wesley Styles, mother of eight children, has "quit" work at her husband's cartage plant here.

During the war years, because of help shortages and other difficulties, Mrs. Styles piloted big transport trucks to Canadian and United States points. She covered about 130,000 accident-free miles as a truck driver and loaded and unloaded her own trucks. Now she's not driving any more "except in case of emergency."

Movies Come In For Tongue Lashing

TORONTO, Oct. 15 -(CP)- The movies came in for a tongue-lashing from General Albert Orsborn, international leader of the Salvation Army, who declared they were "a mixture of heaven, hell and the lunatic asylum, with probably most of the latter and little of the first."

He mentioned the movies in speaking of the many tragedies of human lives and of broken homes.

"Women can oppose films that are wrong, oppose books that are wrong, oppose everything that makes it hard for the decent to maintain their standards and hard for the indecent to improve."

Lacombe Boasts Low Fire Loss

LACOMBE.—Fifth lowest of all towns and cities listed, Lacombe in 1945 showed the exceptionally low fire loss rate of $243. Figure was released in the annual report of the Fire Commissioners of Canada.

On the basis of 1,750 population last year, fire loss here totalled 20 cents per capita.

Highest fire loss in the province for 1945 was at Taber where the per capita loss was $7.43. Olds, with a per capita loss of $6.35, was the second highest.

Growth of Lloydminster Seen in Heavy Shopping

LLOYDMINSTER. — Difficulty of enforcing legislation of Alberta and Saskatchewan governments in this border town is again being experienced. The legislation mostly is various taxation laws of the two governments.

History of the difficulty of taxation in Lloydminster goes back about 10 years to the time when the Late Premier Aberhart and the Social Credit government of Alberta imposed a sales tax. However, after meeting with some of the businessmen of Lloydminster, the Alberta government realized that the imposition of the collection of that tax by the merchants on the Alberta side of Lloydminster was a distinct hardship on them as their customers only needed to cross the street and make their purchases on the Saskatchewan side and thus save the tax.

Merchants Exempted

The Alberta government exempted the merchants of Lloydminster from collecting the tax, and everything went on smoothly. This tax was eventually called off by the Alberta Government, but it was not long before the Liberal Government of Saskatchewan imposed the education tax on all purchases made in the province. This again put the merchants of Lloydminster back in the same predicament but the tables were reversed, the merchants on the Alberta side having the advantage.

During the past few months citizens here have noticed the education tax has not been included on their bills of purchase made from the local stores. No merchant gave any explanation, letter have any questions been asked. The real cause still is a mystery as far as Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen is concerned. It is assumed that a burden on the shoulders of the Saskatchewan merchants had been removed.

It now appears from the daily press reports that some of the smaller towns adjacent to Lloydminster have made some complaint against their having to collect the tax and in some cases have gone on record as refusing to collect the tax, claiming that their customers are deserting their places of business and driving to Lloydminster to save the tax.

Town's Growth Seen

In these times of the harvest season, when time is so valuable to the rural citizen it can hardly be considered that shoppers would drive 30 miles or more just to save a few cents which would possibly not repay the cost of gasoline, oil and time. There must be other reasons for the influx of those shoppers into Lloydminster. The general impression in Lloydminster seems to be that the saving of the two percent tax is hardly responsible for the increased popularity of the business section of Lloydminster. Rather that it is a tangible proof of the growth and development of the progressive border town. Lloydminster is rapidly taking the form of a small city where town and country meet.

Increased Building Stresses Steady Growth of Vermilion

During the past three years building permits in Vermilion have had a value of well over $100,000. This year the permits amounted to more than $130,000. The picture, taken on First st. north, shows a number of new and modern homes and is a true indication of the fine homes being built in this thriving central Alberta town. While new housing absorbed a good portion of the value of the building permits, many new businesses also were represented. Much credit for the development of the town is due to an exceptionally active board of trade and town council.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lirette were born in St. Raymond, Portneuf County, Quebec, and were married there on Oct. 6, 1896. Mrs. Lirette is the former Angelina Cantin.

Expert Hunter

Coming to Bonnyville in 1911, Mr. Lirette became the proprietor of the first store and first postmaster and telegraph agent here. An expert hunter and trapper, Mr. Lirette abandoned business here in 1915 to devote many years to trips in the Peace River territories. He has visited every part of that extensive northern country. Other parts of the west also have witnessed the hunting ability of Mr. Lirette.

Only last fall at the age of 70, he made a trip to the Coal Valley area and after a week's outing, he returned home with a full bag of big game, a 1,000-pound moose, a caribou and an elk.

Mr. and Mrs. Lirette will continue to reside in Bonnyville.

Bad weather thwarted the plan of Buenos Aires, Argentina, to sell sugar at open air booths, and the sales were moved to subways and stores.

Camrose Approves Building Permits

CAMROSE. — Building permits with an approximate value of $16,000 were approved at a recent meeting of the town council. The permits were for dwellings and additions to dwellings with the exception of one to the Imperial Oil Ltd., for a $9,000 service station.

To Move Buildings

Medical health officer was requested to make a further check on all cafes in the town to see that they comply with conditions as set down by the town.

Seeking Tile

As Camrose has been unable to obtain any sewer tile in 1946, and as there were many veterans houses needing this commodity in order to make houses habitable before winter, including the ten homes on the V.L.A. Small Holdings project, it was decided to meet with Veterans Land Act officials in Edmonton to see what could be done.

Three new street lights were ordered placed in the town.

Council authorized the lease of three acres of land near the former normal school, now to be a provincial institution for the housing of senile discharged mental patients.

Funeral Service Held for Priest

BONNYVILLE. — A funeral high mass was sung in St. Louis Roman Catholic church here Thursday for Father Benoit Marchand, parish priest of Bonnyville, who died as a result of injuries suffered when his car collided with that of John Skurham, Ashmont.

Ceremony was one of the most impressive ever held here. The church was filled to capacity by the parishioners as well as friends.

Mass was celebrated by Father S. Lorenzer, assisted by Fathers L. Cimoir and A. Boucher. Orations in French and English were delivered by Chanoine Chaillous, of St. Vincent. The choir was under the direction of Jacques Sylvestre.

Although unable to attend, Archbishop J. A. MacDonald expressed sentiments of sympathy in a message which was read to the gathering by Vicar George Tardif, of Bonnyville.

The following members of the clergy were seated in the chancel: Fathers Gaudet, Paquisk, Paschel, Langevin, Garnier, Berube, Heard, Delisle, Morin, Hoolihalle, Brisre, Leduc, Thibault, Lavallee and Pelletier.

Born in Three Rivers, Que., 64 years ago, Father Marchand was ordained to the priesthood at St. Joseph's seminary, Edmonton, in 1927. He was parish priest at Picardville for 17 years and took over the same post here nine months ago.

Following the ceremony the body was sent to Picardville where burial will be made.

Yesterday Farmer Neilson got over $800 cash when he sold his grain. Through the processes of trade and commerce, some of that money may come to you. Banking service enabled him to obtain his money quickly.

The farmer doesn't have to wait for his money until his grain reaches the consumer . . . this is important to you, no matter where you live or what your work.

Farmer Nielson, and thousands like him, spend money for household and farm equipment, food, clothes, radios, paint and a hundred other things. This helps keep people busy all over the Dominion.

Your bank advances credit also to help farmers plant, cultivate and harvest crops of all kinds, to buy and raise livestock. Banking service is something like the good oil in fine machinery, you never notice it. But it is a prime factor in your prosperity . . . in the Canadian way of life.

Cuban Seeks Amity Argentina and U.S.

BUENOS AIRES, (ONA) — A Cuban opponent of the policies of Spruille Braden, assistant secretary of state in charge of American republics affairs and former ambassador to Argentina, is playing an important role in smoothing relations between the United States and Argentina, according to a highly-placed diplomatic official in Argentina.

The Cuban is Eugenio de Sosa, formerly an editor of the conservative Havana newspaper Diario de la Marina, who was involved in a heated controversy with Mr. Braden when the was still United States ambassador to Cuba. As a result of the controversy, Sosa resigned his post in Havana and suddenly emerged in Buenos Aires, just as Gen. Peron began his "Peron or Braden" campaign in the period immediately before the presidential elections last February. Sosa is reported to have become intimately connected with President Peron, particularly in matters concerning anti-Braden propaganda and relations with the United States.

Some time before his inauguration President Peron is said to have sent Sosa with a personal message to the White House. His audience with President Truman is reported to have been arranged through Andrew Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder. President Truman is understood to have assured Sosa and Higgins that he would supervise the subject of Argentine affairs personally and that Ambassador George Messersmith was to be considered as the president's personal representative in addition to being the official emissary of the United States government.

President Peron is reported to have considered Sosa's mission so important that when the latter's plane arrived in Buenos Aires the Argentine president and his wife, as well as Argentine Foreign Minister Dr. Juan Atilio Bramuglia, were on hand to receive him as well as Higgins who accompanied him.

Sosa's present whereabouts are unknown. He has not been seen in Buenos Aires in six weeks.

Mental Services Demand Growing

OTTAWA, (CP) — An increasing demand for psychiatric services was reported at the annual conference on mental health sponsored by the health department.

Mental health commissioners from all provinces attended the conference and representatives were present from the department of veterans' affairs and from the national mental health committee.

The need for trained psychiatric personnel was emphasized. Approximately 51,000 patients are under treatment in mental hospitals, it was stated, and more are needed in the broader field of mental illness prevention.

Several provinces reported work underway through mental health clinics, but the difficulty of getting trained staff, not only psychiatrists but also psychologists and social welfare workers, was constantly reiterated.

A committee was appointed to study requirements in regard to psychiatric training, research and preventive work in Canada.

Dr. R. S. Maclean, Ponoka, Alta., attended the conference.

C.B.C. Will Spend Less on Programs

MONTREAL, (CP)—A. D. Dunton, chairman of the C.B.C. in an interview here Friday said that in a drive to cut down operating expenses the C.B.C. will chop funds earmarked for programs and scrutinize all other expenditure, large and small.

He said economy was necessary to bring expenditure into line with receipts. Latest estimates indicated C.B.C. was currently overspending its budget by approximately $78,000, with receipts at $6,132,263 and expenses at $6,210,689.

He added that money to be spent on programs during the next 12 months will be "a little less" than during th. last year. The cut might run to about five percent, he said.

He said the C.B.C. expansion program would not be affected, since this program involved capital expenditure.

Lauds Canadians In Far East War

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Col. L.M.V. Cosgrove, Canadian military attache to Australia during the war, said Friday the small band of Canadians who served "down under" as radar experts and wireless operators were "truly magnificent" and a "credit to this country."

In an address to the Royal Military College club, Col. Cosgrove who signed the Japanese surrender aboard the U.S. Battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay, also said Canadians had participated in a series of New Guinea battles—"but I couldn't cover them all—I think that at any one time one could have found a Canadian soldier separated from another by 4,000 miles in the Pacific Islands."

Col. Cosgrove is here awaiting a ship for China where he will be commercial advisor to the Canadian embassy.

Test Plane Soon For 700 Passengers

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP) — Howard Hughes' giant $20,000,000 flying boat is nearing completion and soon will leave its drydock for taxiing tests in the harbor, it was announced Thursday. Its eight engines, designed to turn up an aggregate of more than 24,000 horsepower, have been hoisted into position and are now being installed. The big craft will have a capacity of 700 persons.

Burma Will Hold Election in April

NEW YORK, (ONA) — A new house of representatives will be elected by the voters of Burma, largest province of India, next April, and the first major task of that elected body will be to set up a constituent assembly which will frame a constitution. The election date was disclosed in a B.B.C. broadcast monitored here.

Windsors are Back In England Again

LONDON, (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were back in England together Saturday for the first time since 1939. They expect to spend a month visiting before going to the United States. They are guests at the Sunningdale estate of their friend, Lord Dudley, near Epsom Downs.

"We shall be seeing Mr. Attlee and Mr. Churchill and hope to make a number of visits to London," the duke said.

WANTS LANDLORD

Glasgow reports that a man recently called on an official of a Scottish town and asked: "Who is my landlord?" "To whom do you pay rent?" asked the official, and the answer was: "I have been in the house nine years and never paid any rent, but if someone doesn't repair my room soon there's going to be a row!"

Expects Election In Saskatchewan

SASKATOON, (CP) — Walter A. Tucker, M.P. for Rosthern and Saskatchewan Liberal leader, told the Saskatoon Liberal Women's club Friday night that Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan would call an election after the next session of the legislature.

He said the province's C.C.F. administration was realizing the dangers in itself in the "new avenues" of Liberalism and saw troubles fast piling up. As an example he cited the refusal of some merchants to collect the Saskatchewan education tax.

Why Grow Old?

Actress Joan Winfield is getting in her daily walk to help ward off a nagging winter cold. It may be harder for those of you who live in cold climates, but keep at it.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here we are looking for the season of sniffles and sneezes down the throat. Believe me, the average family has SOME throat too. What a relief it would be if each family could cut its quota even by one or two colds this winter.

THE SO-CALLED common cold is actually more serious than it sounds because it weakens resistance, thus making us more susceptible to its more dangerous allies. In 1941 influenza and pneumonia followed closely on the heels of heart disease, cancer, brain hemorrhage and kidney disease, as a killer. In 1940 more than sixty-seven thousand people died from lumbar and broncho pneumonia alone. Any infection of the mucous membranes, especially of the bronchial tubes, should be taken seriously and given proper care.

The cold is contracted either through direct or indirect contact. If you were to see the picture of a sneeze you would understand how important it is to cover the nose ing so that you will not infect others and mouth when coughing or sneezing with the cold virus. If people would just isolate themselves when they are infected, the number of colds would be cut very low.

PREDISPOSING causes for giving into the cold germ are too little sleep, overeating, fatigue, a lowered state of health, and houses which are kept too dry and too warm, so that the mucous membranes are not in their healthiest state. Vitamin therapy seems to help some people while the value of cold shots is a debatable question. They seem to help some persons and not others.

We pamper ourselves too much when it comes to hot dry overheated rooms and to an indoor life whenever the weather turns cold. Outdoor exercise through the winter months and the habit of taking cold showers seems to raise our resistance. In the case of the latter, your personal reaction is important. Individual reaction to the cold shower makes the difference. Practically everyone could profit by continuing the daily walk through the wintertime.

IF YOU HAVE a cold go to bed. Do not blow your nose unless your nostrils are open. This often forces infection into the eustachion tubes, causing ear trouble.

There is some evidence that overacidity may make us more susceptible to the cold virus. If you wish to have my leaflet No. 42 "Guide to Food Types" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Murals excavated upon the site of Pompeii—destroyed in 79 A.D.—depict inhabitants of that ill-fated city wearing hats and bonnets.

Dorothy Dix Says

Dear Dorothy Dix: Have I a right to insist that my boy friend of seven years should choose between his wife and me? She has a good job and no children. Does no housework. Spends all of her money on herself. He pays the bills and hangs his hat there because he is afraid she will humiliate him and he may lose his job if he clears out.

Is he a spineless jelly-fish, or am I?

PUZZLED PAULINE

Answer: I think you are not only spineless, but brainless to waste seven years on a man who so plainly shows you that he has no intention whatever of legitimizing your relationship. Surely you must have seen enough of life to know that most of the married men who have affairs with other women have no idea in the world of divorcing their wives. On the contrary, they are clinging to their wives with both hands and hiding behind their skirts because that keeps them from having to marry their mistresses.

MY ADVICE to you is to waste no more time upon him. But don't you think you could be better employed than in trying to break up another woman's home? In case you got your jelly-fish, how would you like it if some other husband-snatcher tried to get him away from you?

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am no longer in my twenties and am still unmarried. I have a nice position in an office, but I am made very unhappy by being made the butt of a lot of kidding because I am single. I am always being asked when I am going to be married, and I simply can't take it any longer. Maybe I am too sensitive to remarks like this, but I cannot turn a deaf ear to them.

HOW CAN I answer these boys and girls who make my life a burden to me?

DISCOURAGED

Answer: Why don't you kid back, for kidders can never stand being kidded themselves? The weapon is in your own hands, if you only have the nerve to use it. The next time one of these men ask you when you are going to be married, say: "Well sweetheart, I am just waiting on you to set the date." And be sure to tell some of the girls, in confidence, that you and John, or Tom, or Bill or whatever the kidder's name is, are engaged. Or you might tell the kidder that you were waiting to marry until you could afford to support a husband. That would hold him if he happened to be getting a smaller salary than you do.

Dear Miss Dix: The boy I am engaged to always flirts and neglects me for other girls when we go out together. He also has the habit of standing me up. Will he carry on these habits after we are married?

WORRIED LOVER

Answer: Yes, only more so. Evidently he considers himself a devil among the ladies, and when a man has that obsession he never gets over it. You will be very foolish to marry a boy who neglects you and humiliates you just to tickle his own vanity.

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

By this time some mothers may be discouraged at the way their children are acting in school. They have looked forward to the days when they could send the five-year-old off each morning, knowing he would be well-cared for and happy.

But the actuality has been different from the imaginary picture. He doesn't want to go to school. Yes, the teacher is nice but he'd rather stay home. No, the children don't pick on him but he doesn't want to play with them. He wants to play at home.

You are stumped, and you aren't the only one. The only child in any home is very apt, after the first exciting days of school are over, to decide that he was happier with his mother. It flatters her, but worries her, too. He has to go to school, even if he doesn't like it; even if he cries when there.

Some mothers help their children make this adjustment to a new environment by going with them and staying for a short time each morning until the child is occupied and indifferent to their going. This may be necessary only for a few mornings or it may be for a week or two. It depends on the child and how quickly he becomes acclimated to this new environment.

If he has been unused to playmates, he will be either excited or frightened by them. He feels children are acting in school. They more like a stranger and avoids playing in groups.

Such a child needs to become better acquainted with children in his own home. Even if his home is isolated and no playmates live near him, his mother will have to make an effort to bring a child home from school daily, or invite one or more children home to lunch. These small strangers will feel less terrifying when they are played with in familiar surroundings and with mother nearby.

A mother cannot convince her child by arguments that school is a fine place and children are fun, unless his own experiences confirm this. Unconvinced children get headaches, sore throats, or they vomit their food, because by such means they avoid the place in which they are miserable.

It is more profitable for the mother to help the child adjust himself to strange children and to acknowledge that this may be necessary, than it is to argue that all children have to go to school, or why should hers be different. He is, or he would adjust without difficulty.

Our leaflet No. 48 "Physical Handicaps of the School Child," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Elizabeth Woodward Says

Those boys you met on summer vacation are driving you crazy They pop into your dreams . . . their faces loom at you in a crowd . . . you hear their voices in empty rooms. Those boys you met and liked and left are haunting you like spooks.

You did have fun with them. For a few brief weeks, your life revolved around them. They liked you too. Then you separate . . . and went different ways. But the memory lingers on. Some of them write to you. From others you've heard nary a word. But the glow of them carries over . . . and dims the prospects of the boys you see around.

YOU AND A LOT of the boys you meet just ships that pass in the night. For a few days or weeks you happen to be in the same place at the same moment. You happen to like doing the same things . . . and you have time to do them together. Circumstances toss you into each other's arms, And it's great fun while it lasts.

But a lot of those temporary friendships have no intention of becoming permanent alliances. They are episodes in your life that are complete and whole. No matter how many vague continued-in-our-next strings were left hanging.

Occasionally you meet a boy away from home . . . and he turns out to live around your corner. You just never laid eyes on him before, and he comes into your life on your vacation. There's every chance that you're going to keep bumping into him now that you've found each other.

BUT THE LADS who live miles away have their own lives to lead. They left girls behind them when they went on vacation. They'll go home and find new faces to interest them. They'll take with them pleasant memories of you. But they can't date a memory. They can't dance with a memory. And most of them have no intention of remaining true to a memory.

So there's no point in losing precious sleep over those casual pals.

If you saw them on your own home ground, you might not like them at all. Surrounded, as they were with the glamor of vacation they seemed pretty special. If they were the only boys you met on vacation they are downright important. But how would they fit into your home set-up? How would they stack up against the other boys you know?

AT A DISTANCE . . . and in your imagination . . . they wear halos. The lads in your class don't seem nearly as exciting. So you remember those summer date thrills . . . and you scorn the local lads who are eager to pay you some attention.

You ask me how you can forget those boys you met. And I ask you right back . . . why should you? They're part of your past . . . they are people you've met. Don't try to forget them. Just don't count on them . . . that's all. And don't cut off your nose to spite your face. You can get your teeth into dates with the boys at home. Those fleeting summer romances are so much whipped cream and fluff!

America's Card Authority

C. Finley Porter, past president of the Chicago unit of the American Contract Bridge League, will be one of a delegation of Chicago experts at the All-American Tournament, which will be held at the French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Ind., Oct. 23 to 27 inclusive

As I have said before, midwesterners are good card players, and I would not advise doubling them unless the double is a sound one. In today's hand East should have known that a double with the singleton king of clubs might rout him the whole game, as it did. South won the opening lead with the nine of spades and led a small club. He remembered East's double, and he did not want East in the lead to go through his king-jack of spades. As he did not care whether or not he lost an extra club trick, he went right up with the ace of clubs, intending to play the heart suit. Of course the singleton king dropped, and when declarer ran the five good club tricks, East was in a bad way for discards. He let a couple of hearts go, so declarer was able to cash six clubs, five hearts, a diamond and a spade, making four overtricks on a contract which might easily have been defeated, because in most cases the declarer would have taken the club finesse.

The good player will never double if it might help the declarer in any way to make his contract. Certainly the double with the singleton king of clubs was unsound.

Middle-Aged Man Pays the Piper

It happens so often! The man has turned 40—feels in the pink of condition and pleased with life. Then, suddenly, he begins to pay the penalty of over-indulgence in rich, fatty food and lack of exercise.

His sluggishness often leads to "middle-age" spread. He feels "slowed-down", tired all the time—half-sick, half-well—because he has allowed too much rich, fatty food and lack of exercise to overload his system.

If middle-age is putting its marks on you, try a leading British remedy for keeping fit and trim—Bile Beans. Purely vegetable Bile Beans tone up the system by stimulating the liver. The largest-selling liver pills in Great Britain, Bile Beans are called "The Remedy that Makes no Nasties". To keep fit and trim, a good rule to follow is "BILE BEANS at Bedtime." Russia Discovers Cure For 2 Killer Diseases

(Released by the North American Newspaper Alliance Inc.)

By Edward Hartionovich

MOSCOW, — Russian scientists battling killer microbes are reported to have discovered cures to two diseases which normally result in death: encephalitis and bubonic plague.

After two years in the Taiga, the marshy forest land of the Soviet Far East, two young researchers found that a microbe and not, as had been thought, injury to the vegetative nervous system was responsible for the deadly plague that has killed off as many as one-third of Europe's inhabitants at one time, which still afflicts the Orient and remains a constant menace elsewhere, has been defeated in the laboratories of Prof. G. F. Gause. An antibiotic prepared from a culture of the ray fungus, injected into a group of infected guinea pigs, cured them all. All the infected guinea pigs in a control group which was not inoculated died.

Other death-dealing diseases are being tackled by Soviet scientists. For example, the Moscow institute of experimental medicine, which recently developed the "lingevin serum," ACS, is studying the hormones which give rise to cancer. The chemistry of hormones and of the substances which cause malignant tumors are closely connected. Work on this problem is now nearly completed.

Cover Great Areas

In the wasteland of the Taiga, Valentin Soloviev and Antonina Shubadze recruited zoologists and botanists. They caught small animals and insects by the hundreds, covering great areas in their search. Plants, too, were dissected, dried, left to rot, examined constantly under powerful microscopes.

At last, after two years of intensive work, they found a forest tick whose bite injected the nearly invisible virus into men's blood. Once the virus was isolated, they were able to develop a vaccine against the dread disease.

But this took more years of grueling work in their Moscow laboratory. The virus did not just remain in the bloodstream; it penetrated inside the cells of the body, had to be driven out by a vaccine which was as deeply penetrating.

Today Russia's Taiga is open; its dwellers, injected with the vaccine, are free from the looming threat of agony and paralysis.

Use Ray Fungus

Bubonic, too, has been conquered. The ancient plague which has killed off as many as one-third of Europe's inhabitants at one time, which still afflicts the Orient and remains a constant menace elsewhere, has been defeated in the laboratories of Prof. G. F. Gause. An antibiotic prepared from a culture of the ray fungus, injected into a group of infected guinea pigs, cured them all. All the infected guinea pigs in a control group which was not inoculated died.

Other death-dealing diseases are being tackled by Soviet scientists. For example, the Moscow institute of experimental medicine, which recently developed the "lingevin serum," ACS, is studying the hormones which give rise to cancer. Thousands of Britons Plan To Make Homes in Dominions

(From Edmonton Journal's London Bureau)

LONDON—Britons of today, like their forebears, have their eyes firmly fixed on distant horizons.

Partly as a result of the war, partly as a result of wartime austerity in living, and partly because of their traditional longing for the wide open spaces and wider opportunities than exist in these islands, more than 2,000 Britons each week are asking how they can leave the United Kingdom and go abroad.

They have their eyes fixed mainly on the four British dominions, whose areas together comprise 77 times the size of the United Kingdom, and which together hold just half of the United Kingdom's entire population.

On the face of it, migration to these dominions from teeming Britain with her 47,000,000 citizens living in an area considerably less than that of Alberta or British Columbia, would seem to be good business. Good business for everybody concerned, particularly the dominions.

Faces Sharp Decline

But Britain is a country facing sharp declines in populin over the next few years. Population today stands at its peak, despite two world wars in 25 years and the influenza epidemic of 1918-19. But already it is showing signs of starting to slip.

It is declining at such a rate, in fact, that by 1951—only five years hence—population will have dropped by 2,000,000 persons. And by 1975, if the rate of decline continues, total population of the British Isles will have sunk to 20,000,000.

Causes of the decline are many and obscure, ranging from birth control through a desire for leisure and high standard of living to fear of another war and the housing shortage—how can you bring up a family of four children in a flat designed for a man and wife.

As this population decline goes on, so will Britain gradually tend to become a country of old people. In 1880, only seven percent of the population was over the age of 60. In 1930 there was 11 percent, and it is estimated that 22½ percent—nearly a quarter of the total population—will be over 60 in another 35 years.

Few Replacements

But Britain will probably still be a relatively densely-populated country even then, a large portion of the population will be past child-bearing age and probably past working age. What is happening to Britain's population is that it is ageing—but it is not being replaced sufficiently fast.

So that when young Britons east covetous eyes abroad, particularly in the direction of the British dominions where they read that wages are higher, living is cheaper and that life is more luxurious, they are only increasing the possibility of a further decline in Britain's already sinking population level.

Britain, today desperately exporting every manufactured article to build up foreign credits abroad, can't afford to export her youth.

When Kidneys Work Too Often You May Lose Sleep and Energy

If you are embarrassed and annoyed by too frequent urination, perhaps some day or night or if you suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Leg Pains, Nervousness or Dizziness due to Simple Kidney Trouble, don't feel old before your time. Kidney and Bladder troubles often make you feel miserable.

Worry, Colds, working too hard, or exercising or drinking may cause the kidneys to get tired and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to clean out poisonous matter. Then backaches sometimes need relief.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the blood must pass. Each tube has to be just right and no tube should be allowed to leak like a worn out filter.

Nearly twenty years ago a scientific formula called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisonous if allowed to remain in the blood. 2. Help relieve the scanty passages and burning of bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys clean out poisons which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in eliminating an increase of energy which may easily make you feel years younger.

Liberal Trial Offer

To prove that Cystex may be the very medicine you need, accept this liberal trial offer. Ask your druggist for regular Cystex. It is a fair trial exactly as directed and watch for quick help, a rapid increase in energy, and new joy in living. Cystex must bring you the help you want and satisfy completely or you simply return the empty package and you get your money back. So why suffer another day without trying Cystex?

Marital Problems Of Veterans Few

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA—In spite of the large number of marriages between Canadian service men and girls in all parts of northwest Europe, the incidence of domestic problems was "exceedingly small," Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of Veterans' affairs, said on his return to Ottawa over the week-end following a five week's stay in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Mackenzie said he had discussed this phase of repatriation with officials of the dominions office and it was one of a number of matters which he would discuss with cabinet shortly.

"The residual problems that remain after the successful repatriation of half a million and women are fortunately small in proportion to the whole," said Mr. Mackenzie, "but they merit and shall receive the fullest possible care and consideration."

The minister said that the possibility of reciprocal arrangements between Canada and the United Kingdom in respect to problems affecting service men and their wives had been discussed. It had been decided that the European office of the department of veterans affairs would be strengthened by the addition of a special service section.

"All energies are now being concentrated on expediting the arrival in Canada of the remaining overseas wives, and on their future happiness in Canada," said the minister. "We realize that as a result of conditions beyond our control transportation is somewhat crowded and housing conditions are not yet adequate. Both are improving and with a little time we need have no worry about their future in Canada."

Mr. Mackenzie stated that while the number of marriages of Canadian service men overseas was approximately 41,000, all but approximately 9,400 wives have been transferred to Canada. On Oct. 1 the number of wives awaiting passage to Canada was approximately 6,000. He had been assured that their movement would be completed by about Dec. 1.

There remained another 3,400 who for various reasons are not applicants.

Referring to some 3,000 Canadians who took their discharge overseas, the minister said that more than one third had already returned to Canada or were in the process of returning.

Appoint Wallace Magazine Editor

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, retired from President Truman's cabinet for his foreign policy views, has accepted the editorship of the New Republic, a weekly magazine.

His appointment is effective in December. Mr. Wallace said it will not interfere with his plans for a Democratic campaign tour.

The ousted secretary of commerce said in a statement issued through the Washington office of the magazine:

"I shall have the opportunity of saying exactly what I think at a time when a bi-partisan bloc mouthing the phrase 'one world' is really driving the world into two armed camps.

"As editor of the New Republic I shall do everything I can to arouse the American people, the British people, the French people, and, in fact, the liberally-minded people of the whole world to the need of stopping this dangerous armament race."

Trace Civilization In Central Asia

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Traces of hitherto unknown civilization have been found by a scientific expedition, charting the vast 1,000-foot tableland in central Asia between the Aral and Caspian seas, known as the Ust-Urt plateau and until now regarded as one of the few great unchartered areas in the world.

Professor Yeveni Korouin, leading an expedition from the Academy of Sciences at Tashkent in the Uzbek republic, Russia, said: "We have relics . . . which indicates that men dwelt on the Ust-Urt plateau until comparatively recently."
